Science class is where it's at: Dist. 34 Board

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Board of Education of Antioch Grade School Dist. 34, in an effort to bring its science classes up to state learning objectives, approved the formation of a committee to study available science materials for grades one through five and three through five.

The committee is expected to return to the board with its recommendation by spring.

Snap On Tools Corp. had the low bid on a new brake machine at $6,339, which the board accepted at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

In other action, the board replaced its choice of Fred Eichhorn for the open spot on the citizen's advisory committee with Jeannine Warner since Eichhorn was elected to the school board in the Nov. 3 election.

Supt. Donald Skidmore told the board that he had given a list of areas to the citizens advisory committee which it can study in looking for options to reorganization of the school district.

The list includes school boundaries, building capacities, future growth and abilities to handle it, variance in class sizes, finances, transportation, curriculum-instruction, family demographics, staff reassignment.

Skidmore said that the items on the list have no priorities.

Skidmore also gave the board a report on the history of school attorney, Mike Gantar's (law firm Gantar and DeMartini, formerly Larson, Gantar and DeMartini) service with the school district and recommended the district continue the relationship, a recommendation which the board approved.

Future burning of leaves waits on ordinance OK

If the ordinance that the Antioch Village Board instructed Atty. Ken Clark to draw up is passed, Antiochans will be allowed supervised burning of leaves in the future.

At the last regular meeting of the board, the board acknowledged that maintenance department employee Michael Ruxton had received number one certification from the Illinois Dept. of Environmental Affairs.

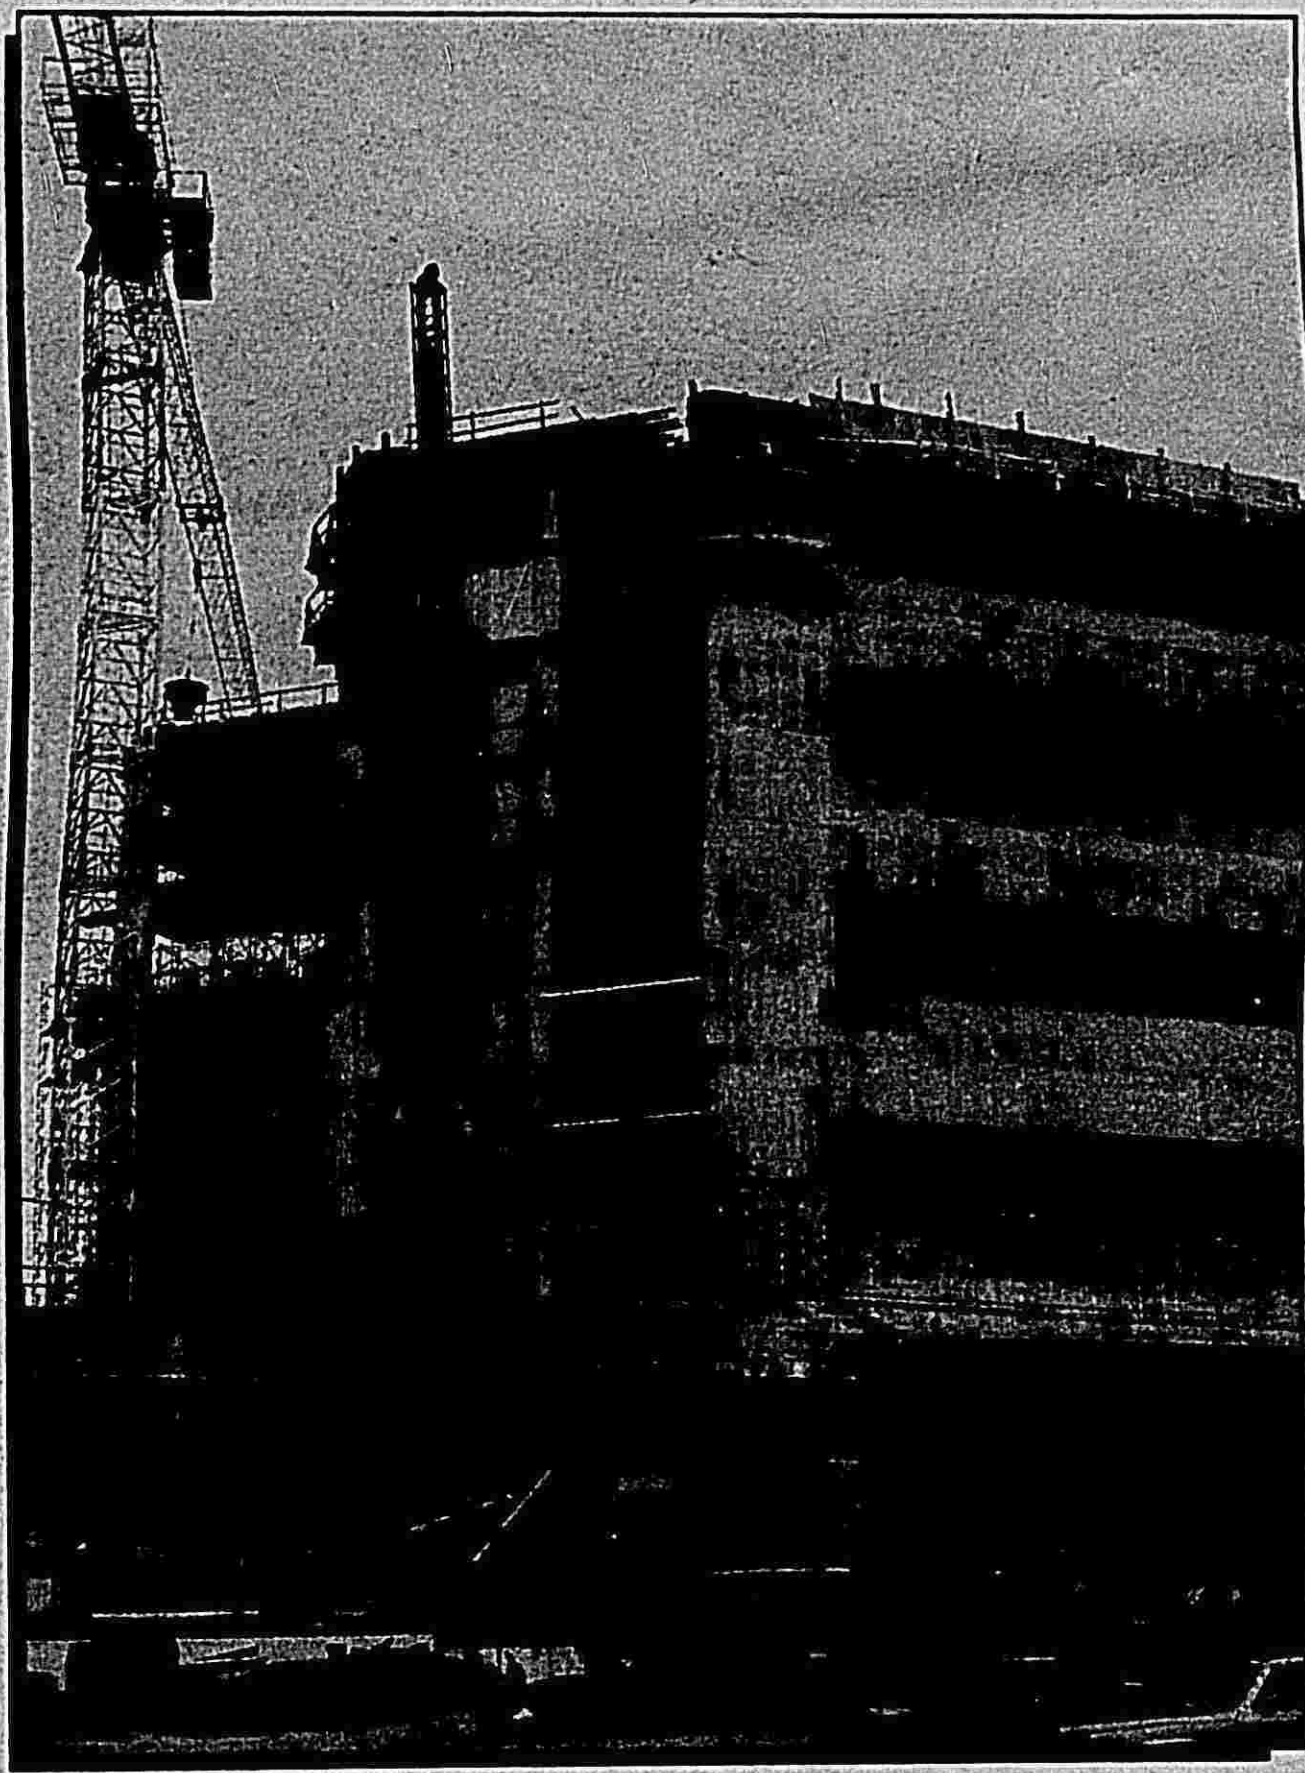

The board also approved the hiring of Marilyn Pocius, at a salary of $3.50 per hour, to work part time with the children at the Scout House Camp. The nursery school program sponsored by Parks and Recreation, used to be called Camp Crayola but was changed a few months ago when the village received official notification from Crayola, Inc. that the village could not use a trademarked name.

In other business, the board approved the postponement of the pre-annexation hearing on the Smith property off of Tiffany Rd. The hearing will be held in front of the zoning board on Wednesday, Dec. 2 and is expected to be brought in front of the village board with the zoning board's recommendation at a regular board meeting on Monday, Dec. 7.

EARLY DEADLINES FOR THANKSGIVING

Regular advertising and news copy deadlines have been advanced to 5 p.m. Monday, Nov. 23, for the Nov. 27 issue due to the Thanksgiving holiday. Want ads can be placed until 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 24, by calling (312) 223-8161. Next week's edition will be on newstands a day earlier than usual—Wednesday, Nov. 25. The newspaper office will be closed Thursday, Nov. 26, in observance of the holiday. Home delivery customers will receive their paper as usual on Friday, Nov. 27. We wish you a happy holiday!

New jail rising

Lake County's new jail is coming along well. Officials expect it to be complete in July or August of 1988. Multi-million dollar facility will house 270 inmates and ease overcrowding problem. For story on jail, see Page 31.—Photo by John Doetsch

Accused stabber faces McHenry jury, while Antioch dope trial is pending

The trial of one of the three Wisconsin men accused of the beating and stabbing of Randy Knackstedt, Antioch, and Robert Baker, Lake Villa, is in progress in McHenry County Court.

Daniel Fisher, Twin Lakes, is being tried by jury at press time.

The trials of the other two, Larry Brown and Alexander O'Connell, both of Twin Lakes, also accused of battery, are expected to follow that of Fisher.

Knackstedt and Baker were allegedly attacked and Baker was allegedly critically stabbed by three Wisconsin men in the early morning hours of Jan. 8, on Johnsbury Rd. in Spring Grove, after all five allegedly left the Aquarium Bar in Fox Lake.

The police were working on a drug related theory in the investigation of the incident.

According to Lake County States Atty. Jeff Pavletic, the trial of John Wells, Jr., Antioch, on charges of selling over $1 million worth of cocaine to undercover agents in the Chain O'Lakes State Park earlier in the year is expected to take place momentarily.

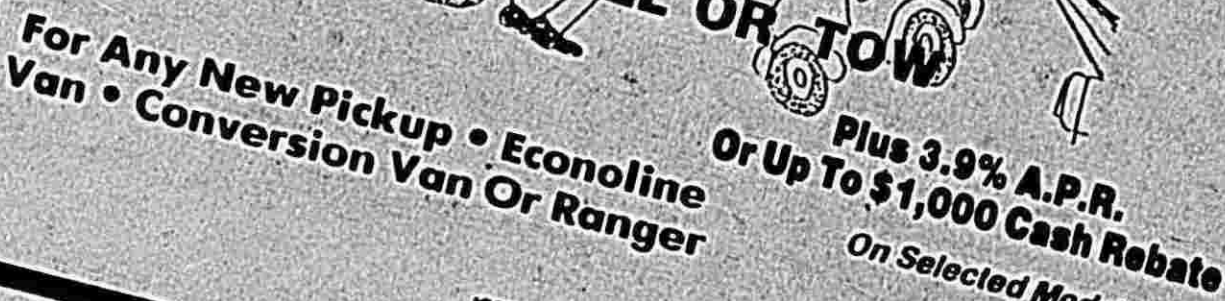

Wells is the son of Antioch's former police chief, Jack Wells.

In ICU, little things mean a lot.

The intensive care unit of Northern Illinois Medical Center is a focal point for the advanced technology and modern medicine that a critically ill or injured person needs. Our experienced physicians and highly trained staff work day and night treating and monitoring patients, watching for—and responding to—the subtle signs of change... the small suggestions of progress.

But many times a patient's "needs" don't register on a heart monitor. So in addition to the sophisticated skills and procedures used to care for our critical patients, we understand the importance of those little things that can help make a difference.

Antioch's retail growth explodes all over town

by GLORIA DAVIS

The Village of Antioch's commercial growth, which had come to a standstill a few years, with high interest rates a big contributing factor, is suddenly steaming full speed ahead.

Last spring, the Antioch News-Reporter revealed that there were over 20 vacant commercial spots available in Antioch, a large amount in proportion to the commercial community's size.

With the hard work of the village board, Chamber of Commerce and Industry, and the economic development commission, Antioch's business community is suddenly exploding with new buildings in bloom and vacant existing spots filling up.

The Economic Dev. Dir. Don Davis happily announces that the TIF Dist., on the north side of the downtown area, is filling fast. Last week two new establishments moved in and officially opened their doors.

Village, Chamber and development officials were there for ribbon cuttings at A Tisket A Tasket Specialty Baskets on the west side of Main St. and Northwest Archery on the east side.

Tasket features gift baskets and other fun items, while marksmen will find the archery lanes at Northwest and the pro shop a welcome addition.

On Saturday, Nov. 21, Tasket will be holding a special prize drawing from customers' registrations as part of the opening celebration.

The ribbon cutting entourage then headed out just past Rte. 173, on Rte. 83 to the new '50s restaurant, T. S. Boogies where many of them dined on burgers of all kinds!

Also in that area, the first phase of the 125 unit motel being built by Dupre Enterprises, behind Kentucky Fried Chicken, is going up fast and the Town and County Shopping Mall across from the high school, is almost completed by Horizon Developers and will see its anchor store, Walgreens, open by February, with a cleaners, video and a yogurt store already set to go, leaving four retail spaces yet to be leased.

Almost Hawaii, a tanning salon and boutique has opened across from the Squire Restaurant behind Barnloft Travel on Rte. 173, just east of Rte. 83, and the Sterbenz family is talking seriously about putting in $3 million resort with aquaminiums, pools, etc. next to the bowling alley, while another marina is due to be built by the Pederson family in between Sequoit Harbor and Sequoit Creek.

Heading north into the existing shopping area, the new mall between the State Bank of Antioch and Jack's Four Squires on Lake St., built by Vault owners Chris and John Katras, has four of its 11 spaces leased to a real estate firm, a shoe store, a video store and a cleaners, leaving eight more to go.

Metta's Candy's has left Lake St. but Chateau Royale a ticket agency and music store and a t-shirt shop have come in.

Across the street in the mall behind Great American Federal Savings, Household Finance has left but Bear Realty has moved from the Savings' basement and surfaced in the mall, leaving one open space there.

In the Park Ave. Plaza, behind the Main St. stores, Gilded Cage has expanded and Cherished Children has moved there from Main St.

There may still be one or two open spots in the mall that holds the Primary Care Center on Lake St. with Atty. Andrew Lynch moving in there with his office, leaving the old village hall in the TIF Dist. empty.

The big stores, formerly occupied by Foremost Liquors and Antioch Drugs are still vacant in the Orchard Shopping Plaza and the Antioch Animal Hospital is slated to move from Main St. to Rte. 83, south of Rte. 173 while the Vault Restaurant reportedly has plans to expand with an atrium into the building next door.

Out towards North Ave., one of the two openings in the building on the southwest corner of North and Rte. 83, may be filled, and further east on North Ave., Mattson's Outlet Linen Store has opened.

Now everyone knows why Mayor Raymond Toft has been walking around with a smile on his face in expectancy of all those additional sales tax dollars.

Antioch tree farmer Hayden dies at home

Long-time Antioch environmentalist and conservationist, Fred Hayden, died last week at home at the age of 70.

In 1981, Hayden retired from Abbott Laboratories where he was a utilities operations manager for 35 years. He owned Hayden's Tree Farm for 37 years.

He had locally received fame as an area forester and as a director of the Lake County Water and Soil Conservation Dist.

He was also a supporter of the Audubon Society, nature conservancy and national and world wildlife funds.

Hayden was an active part of Antioch's Boy Scout program for years. He had served on the Newport Grade School Board and the Newport Twp, Fire Protection Dist.

He is survived by his wife, Patricia to whom he was married for 39 years, two daughters, two sisters, three brothers and was preceded in death by his son Andrew Leroy in 1971.

Visitation was held at Strangs Funeral Chapel through Monday.

Grob new president of Grass Lake Board

Grass Lake School Board newcomer Don Grob was elected president of the school board as the board officially confirmed and swore in the candidates elected in the Nov. 3 election.

Grob, Marie Bausam and incumbent Ardeen Harris were sworn into office; Paul Kitto was elected board vice president, Mary Beth Walsh was elected board secretary and Susan Anderson was appointed to serve as the secretary's designated representative.

Grob was also appointed to represent the board at the Ill. Assn. of School Boards and the Special Education Dist. of Lake County.

The tax rate referendum advocating a 50 cent tax rate increase was declared a failure with the close vote being 205 yes votes and 218 electors nixing the tax rate increase.

Former board member John Stietz, who lost the election, was given a plaque commemorating his 18 years of service to the school.

In other business, the board:

— designated the second Tuesday of the month, at 7:30 p.m., at the school, the time and place for regular school board meetings.

— approved the hiring of Neal Smith as part-time education aide and Carol Sackschewsky as a part-time art teacher.

— estimated a tax levy at $614,094 and schedule a public hearing on that levy for Dec. 8.

In Grass Lake's case, the over $2,000 lost in the governor's cuts has been restored to the school district.

RING

If this is all your phone is capable of, it's selling your business short.

A business phone without the right features can literally have you running in circles. Running to get others to the phone. Scurrying to answer other phones. Or rushing back and forth for information.

Illinois Bell's Executive Package can help businesses with 2-6 lines operate more efficiently, simply by making your present phones more flexible... It lets you transfer calls, answer incoming calls from any phone in the office, even make conference calls... all to help improve productivity.

If your phone number begins with 395-, Executive Package is now available in your area. And if you order before December 5th, you will save 49%-70% on

Turkeys are big news in Antioch supermarkets

by CAROLYN HAMMOND
(312)395-6081

The grass has been cut for the last time this year. Actually fellas, that was the easiest way to hopefully get rid of the last of the fallen leaves, wasn't it? Now that the moment this Thanksgiving Day to reflect on all we have to be thankful for.

We get letters...Had a nice note from a member of the A.T.H.S. class of 1952, Sue Garland Hawkinson, who now resides in Austin, Texas, 35th reunion...Time passes so quickly, it doesn't seem like 35 years ago that we graduated from A.T.H.S." (Note: Antioch High School used to be called Antioch Township and not Community H.S.) "Notes and News" is sorry to have inadvertently omitted your name from the list of those attending, Sue. Glad to see we have readers outside the Antioch area.

Congratulations to A.C.H.S.'s Tracy Fahrner and Karen Spronk for their selection to the 1987 Illinois All-State Girls' Field Hockey Team. Have you noticed how good our girl athletes have become? They're tremendous!

Speaking of tremendous, here come the wrestlers—an inter-squad meet for A.C.H.S. wrestlers of all levels (Frosh-Soph, J.V. and Varsity) will be held at 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20 in the A.C.H.S. South Gym. There will be a short session with Coach Ted DeRousse for the parents at 5:30 p.m. in the Commons prior to the meet. Refreshments will be served by the Wrestling Parents Organization in the Commons immediately following the meet.

Also at the same time, the A.C.H.S. Basketball Intersquad games will be held in the North Gym. All participants, parents, and other spectators are also invited to the Commons to join in the refreshments.

Do you have a special collection that you're proud of? Have you heard about the Collection Show at the Lakes Region Historical Society from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 21? Anyone can bring in their collection for display at no charge. There will be a $1 admission for viewers. For more information call Roberta Knirsch at (312)395-3737 or (312)395-7337.

Another Antioch service organization continues to make its impact on our area youth. V.F.W. Sequoit Post 4551 has donated an American flag to the students of Antioch Grade School for use inside the school.

Speaking of use—Do you have labels from any Campbell soup or Swanson products that you are just throwing out? Antioch Grade School is once again saving them in its annual "Labels for Education" drive.

Senate approves minimal state spending increase

Faced with an extremely tight state budget, lawmakers agreed to a minimal increase in state spending, with most of the added funding going to schools, according to Republican Caucus Chair Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

In other major action at the close of the legislature's annual fall veto session, Sen. Geo-Karis said lawmakers approved a major unemployment insurance compromise which provides modest benefit increases for workers who lost their jobs, while saving employees more than $500 million annually.

In addition, Sen. Geo-Karis said a flood prevention plan for northeastern Illinois won approval.

In the budget debate, lawmakers approved a supplemental appropriation of $29 million, which included $16 million for the school aid formula, $3.2 million for the state's special Math and Science Academy and $3 million for transportation and special education grants.

The unemployment insurance package won labor and management support in the General Assembly, after a compromise was reached on the issue of paying jobless benefits to workers locked out by labor disputes. The new unemployment insurance agreement was needed because of the scheduled expiration of a 1983 unemployment solvency package. In 1983, business and labor agreed to accept a freeze on benefits and higher business taxes in order to erase a $2.4 billion debt to the federal government.

Under the new agreement, unemployed workers will receive a four percent annual increase in benefits during each of the next three years. The savings that result from paying off the state's debt will permit a decrease in employer taxes even with the increase in benefits.

Under the lockout compromise, workers may receive benefits if they are locked out of their jobs by a labor dispute, but only under very limited circumstances—such as cases in which employers refuse to meet and negotiate with union representatives.

The flood control package was developed in response to massive flooding in August in northeastern Illinois—the second major flood to hit the area within a year. The proposal would prohibit construction within 100-year floodways in the collar counties around Chicago. It also authorizes local referenda to levy taxes to help pay for stormwater management plans and provides for issuing up to $10 million in bonds for local government stormwater projects. The bonds and most interest would be paid through revenue from the local taxes. The state would cover up to four percent of the interest costs. A $200,000 state appropriation was approved to cover the state's share of interest.

Geo-Karis to seek reelection to Senate

State Sen. Adeline J. Geo-Karis is announcing her bid for reelection as a Republican candidate for the 31st Dist. Senate seat.

Sen. Geo-Karis was elected to the Senate in 1978, after serving six years in the Illinois House. Her district includes most of northern Lake County. She is the first woman ever to achieve a leadership position in the Illinois State Senate.

Sen. Geo-Karis made headlines last year when she was elected Caucus Chairman by Senate Republicans and again when she was elected mayor of her hometown in Zion.

For the coming four-year term, she expects the state budget, the economy, the school aid formula and environmental problems to be leading issues. "I am particularly concerned about providing more jobs for a better quality of life for all our citizens," Sen. Geo-Karis said. "We also have to find better ways to prevent flooding, handle solid waste and guard groundwater supplies."

Among bills she successfully sponsored this year include measures allowing dry communities to stay dry, let consumers compare credit card rates, require sex offenders to pay their victims' medical bills.

Building Dept. eruption

A new angle is developing out of the turmoil surrounding Road Commissioner James Semmerling of Lake Villa Township that likely will have impact around the state. By statute, the township road commissioner has total autonomy and is answerable only to the electorate.

For some time, the activities of Semmerling's department have been under careful scrutiny of the Lake County Building and Zoning Dept. Only embattled County Building Officer Robert Streicher knows exactly why, but the most widely accepted reason is local politics. Semmerling is charging that Streicher's policy of red-tagging certain road projects is harassing, discriminating, meddling and illegal. Semmerling has indicated that he is at the point of turning the matter over to the courts.

Down through the years, the autonomy of the township road commissioner has been upheld countless times. It would appear that Streicher is on thin ice. Only the county building chief has a well-cultivated network of political ties and seems likely to be able to muster considerable backing at the local level to support his position. Thus the stage is set for a court test of the road commissioner's authority and the certainty that every other highway commissioner in Illinois will be watching to see what happens.

Semmerling's differences with Streicher are only part of a larger picture that could blow up at any time in the face of Lake County Board members, many of whom view criticism emanating from Lake Villa Citizens of incompetency and irregularities in the operation of the county building department as only the rantings of cranks and malcontents. Dist. 1 County Board Rep. Helen Amendola, Chairman of the building and health committee which has oversight responsibility for operation management of Streicher's office, has dismissed the Lake Villa Township criticism as merely a local political hassle. Amendola even supported Streicher for a pay raise and a proficiency rating of excellent. The committee chairperson resides in Highland Park and obviously knows little or nothing about how Streicher's department handles inspections and complaints in west Lake County.

Even as Streicher's hounding of Semmerling is rapidly developing into an issue in itself, with state-wide implications as we've pointed out, the total operation of the county building department undoubtedly will come up for public review in coming months since more than a few County Board candidates in the spring elections have promised to make building and zoning a campaign issue. The question is whether the candidates will be able to blow the lid off or will the normal course of events lead to an explosion first?

Strip annexation upheld

Strip annexation, the bane of orderly growth and development, has been upheld once again in the higher courts, giving rise to wonderment why this scurrilous practice isn't used more often.

This time the Village of Riverwoods lost its fight to prevent a 12-story office complex being constructed on land annexed last year by Buffalo Grove. The Illinois Supreme Court refused to hear Riverwoods' appeal to overturn the annexation accomplished by taking in a 200-foot wide strip running one and a half miles along Lake Cook Rd. to the 17.5 acre building site at the corner of Milwaukee Ave.

Circuit Judge Lawrence Inglis of Lake County originally ruled in favor of Riverwoods, which objected on the grounds that Buffalo Grove would reap tax benefits while Riverwoods would suffer traffic problems and decreased home values. Judge Inglis' ruling was overturned by the Illinois Appellate Court in Elgin.

Strip annexation typically is employed by a larger municipality to "grab" development rights from a smaller and weaker municipality. The "stripping" or "fenceline" annexation, in our opinion, results in hodge-podge growth, breakdown of development continuity and adverse effects to the immediate neighbors. The classic case of strip annexation in Illinois was the long reach employed by the City of Chicago to acquire O'Hare Airport.

Waukegan used "stripping" to take in Lakehurst Shopping Center.

Considering the counterproductive results to neighboring property owners, it is odd that strip annexation is so well founded in law.

Viewpoint

County heading for 'hot' spot in growth rate

by BILL SCHROEDER

There's a strong likelihood that Lake County will move up a notch or two on the growth scale in the Chicago metropolitan area when all the figures are in for 1987.

For 1986, Lake County ranked fifth in Illinois with a nine percent growth factor for the years 1980-86, trailing other collar counties such as DuPage, 10.4; Kane, 9.9; and McHenry, 9.8. The state's overall leader was tiny Johnson County in the far south end of Illinois, where the establishment of a prison boomed population to 13.2 percent growth favor so far this decade.

Growth in this locality was unabated this year and more of the same is predicted for 1988, with little or no effect from the national economy. Warren Wood, senior planner for economic development in Lake County, pointed out that Buffalo Grove and Lake Zurich, two examples of the area's fastest growing towns, still are going strong with future commitments.

Some interesting observations: Demographers are aware of a "leap-frogging" effect in the suburban area where growth closer to Chicago suburbs has slowed considerably while farther-out towns are booming; growth in DuPage County, the "hot" area of the '80s, is cooling.

Commercial development such as retail construction on Rollins Rd. in the Round Lake area and office-research on either side of the Lake-Cook Rd. corridor is fueling growth and has a "magnet" effect for housing that develops in pockets in all directions.

One of the surprising revelations of the on-going growth story in Lake County is that Vernon Twp. has taken over the number one spot in total real estate valuation, displacing West Deerfield Twp., another southern township. Waukegan Twp., the perennial leader down through the years, long since has been displaced as number one in valuation.

RETURNED—Friends of Dick Scott, former manager of Penney's/Lakehurst, are happy to see him back in the Lake County business scene: Scott, a resident of Crystal Lake, has purchased an interest in Meier's Masterbilt Fence Co., Fox Lake, and is serving as chief executive of the company that serves fencing and swimming pool needs in northern Illinois. While at Lakehurst, Scott was active in civic affairs, serving as chairman of the Waukegan/Lake County Chamber of Commerce.

BUILDERS—Youths 16 to 18 in the building trades program at Lake County Area Vocational Center are completing the seventh house in 11 years in Mariner's Cove subdivision, Washington St. The current project house has four bedrooms and two and a half baths.

Joe Pregrocki, instructor, is proud of the care and skill exercised by the youth builders. He described the Colonial-style structure as a "really nice home." Members of the ornamental horticulture program at LCAVC will landscape in spring and the house will be sold to the highest bidder.

with income going to purchase land and material for another class project. The program is an excellent way to help train carpenters of the future.

ATTENTION—State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) has an uncanny knack for becoming the center of attention, as she did repeatedly at the Governor's Small Business Roundtable last week at the College of Lake County. Geo even was able to upstage Lt. Gov. George Ryan.

The redoubtable mayor of Zion even benefitted when one of the speakers referred to "geo-physics." "Is that like Geo-Karis?" someone called out, for a good laugh by all.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Barin, our aging German shepherd, appears to be undergoing some character changes as she grows older. She's developed a habit of sleeping late, and recently she has been showing a fondness for Mexican food. What next? Breakfast in bed?

Recall procedures effective as tool to withdraw consent

One does not take lightly the opportunity to comment upon and explain the recent political phenomenon of recalling public officials. The greatest difficulty for me is to condense a drastic departure from local political procedure into several short columns of information. This article will attempt to raise more questions than are answered. To render fundamental political change in a system of government without serious and informed debate is to shoot yourself in the constitutional foot.

Let me begin by stating what recall

Guest Columnist

By Rudolph F. Magna

should not be—that is, the smoldering residue of a political collision. Recall, in its purest sense, cannot perform a positive roll in a system of government if it is relegated to being just a threat of retribution or political vengeance. Neither should it be considered another bite at the political apple by the opposition.

The concept of recalling public officials is not new to American government. Indeed, a number of states have recall provisions. Nevada and Arizona, for instance, have a recall procedure for all elected public officials—from governor to school board members. Several other states have modified forms of recall limited to purely local officials.

In its strictest definition, the recall of public officials is the voters' terminating from office a particular elected official prior to the expiration of the term for which that official was elected. Without restraint, such a system of "early retirement" of officials would reap chaos on government. Planning and programs could be continually sidetracked and derailed being subject to the rapid turnover of the decision makers subjected to successful recalls. At the other extreme, officials might feel it in their own best political interests not to take creative or unique approaches to solving their constituent problems for fear of failure or retribution leading to a recall.

Fact of the matter is that states, which have recall, have not been rendered governmentally impotent by political paranoia or recallization. Two principles insure that contemporary problems will have contemporary solutions. First, the electorate insists that government do something to solve problems and, second, people aren't stupid.

History proves and our constitution recognizes, that all civilized societies are divided into different groups; and factions are always vying for control and power over the other. The genius of our Founding Fathers lies in the way they divided the "power pie" and institutionalized multiple layers of government with limited powers and with more accountability to the people whom they served.

In this constitutionally based dilution of absolute power and those efforts toward more accountability by government to the governed (and the resulting responsiveness to the needs of the people) a balance was struck by our founders. The balance being the power of the entire government emanating from the collection of individuals comprising those governed. Hence, "We the people..."

Recall of public officials is nothing more than the withdrawal of the consent of the governed to be governed by a particular individual. In effect, a termination of that official's services. As stated earlier, recall cannot be taken lightly if it is to work as the expression of withdrawn consent.

In Illinois, there is no specific constitutional or statutory provision which permits recall of local government officials. However, the "Local Governments" article of the Illinois Constitution provides that home rule municipalities have the power to alter their form of government. It is under this provision that, I believe, home rule municipalities have the authority, subject to referendum, to establish recall procedures.

The only recall procedure in Illinois, of which I am aware, was recently approved by the voters of Park City. The "Park City Model" of recall applies to all elected officials of the city. There are important limitations to this recall and they are as follows:

1. A public official can only be subject to recall after serving one year in office;

2. A valid recall petition must be signed by at least 35 percent of the total of voters who voted in the last election at which the official was elected;

3. A public official can be subject to recall only once during any term of office that he holds;

4. Recall elections can only be scheduled with the general election schedule—no special elections.

5. Petitions for recall can only be circulated for the 90 days preceding the last date for the filing of such petitions for inclusion of the recall at the next regularly scheduled election.

6. If a recall is successful, a "vacancy" then exists in the office and is filled as provided by state statutes and not by another election. The person filling the vacancy serves the remainder of the term of the official who was recalled.

There are other limitations and requirements in the Park City Recall Ordinance which deal with the local procedure for filing of the petition and its processing. These procedures, as well as the concept itself, are untested in the courts of Illinois. The constitutional propriety of home rule recall has yet to be tested. It is possible that state legislation on the subject could resolve all questions on the matter. The jury is still out on the subject and the verdict may yield some surprising results.

As the cost of fueling our state and local governments continues to skyrocket, while relying on an antiquated system of property taxations the source of that fuel, it is not unreasonable to expect that John and Jane Q. Public will become more conscious of the political muscles they can flex. The cost of government, the proper planning of communities' hopes, dreams and goals and the reasonable control of growth which further taxes the processes of government call for efficient and effective leadership. Talk used to be cheap, but when government talks, it's expensive. The legacy of the American Revolution abounds and prospers all around us. The refinement of that legacy for ourselves and our posterity lies in how our government officials accommodate the very difficult demands made upon them by a growing and more sophisticated constituency.

Recall in Illinois may assist the process of efficiency of government or it may be nothing more than a small failure in the great American experiment. Of one thing, though, I am in complete agreement with, and that is James Madison's ideal that you solve the problems of a democracy not by the ledger sheet but through more democracy.

Public opinion is subtle force in medical policy Candidates coming out of woodwork

If we were called upon to rate what forces affect the practice of medicine, cost would be number one. The public has shown in many ways that it will accept less medical care and even risk quality of care if only it will cost less.

Number two is the lawsuit epidemic. Here we see the doctors and hospitals spending both money and energy to avoid being sued.

Less obvious is number three, public opinion. It is the sleeping giant of the three. Besides its obvious effect by

The animal rights groups can ban vivisection in many areas. There would be no transplant of organs without it. So it's a mixed blessing that only ethicists may solve some day.

At a hospital staff meeting, a doctor makes a motion to stop abortions. He is unabashed in stating that his patients are against it and will stop coming to the hospital. This is an example of both money and public opinion modifying practice. It doesn't stop abortions except in that hospital; patients go to another hospital not too far away.

We look at tv one night and see nurses striking their hospitals in a large city. Their rights are advanced, to no small extent, by the rights demanded by the advocates of the Equal Rights Amendment. Congress, having decided that medical care is too expensive, sets a course for progressive regulation and lowering of costs. When a clamor is raised that the quality of care is suffering, it moves to insist that the quality of care must be high at a low cost.

The Thalidomide horror, where a drug used extensively in Europe without apparent harm resulted in the birth of numerous malformed infants here, causes us to test every drug so thoroughly that people may die uselessly before it can be used. Public opinion is now forcing a more speedy evaluation. In truth, no drug is without side effects and one was in use for more than 30 years before anyone accused it of being harmful. So reasonable testing may prevail.

People love the idea of generic drugs, but the testing of them is flawed. They may not behave as advertised, but they are cheaper so the public accepts them. The fear of radiation in checking for breast cancer keeps many women from getting a mammogram. Public opinion helps out here when it shifts because Nancy Reagan had one done followed by a mastectomy.

We are going through a confusion with AIDS. Public opinion has yet to grasp that this is a universal disease and we won't eradicate it by persecuting sick people and keeping children out of school. Doctors face a backlash if they refuse to treat these poor unfortunate individuals.

Not too strangely, insurance companies will not be censured as quickly if they refuse to insure suspected AIDS persons. Public opinion suspects that if they do insure them, everyone's premiums will go up, for so we have been warned.

Years ago, my patients facing undesired pregnancy occasionally came with a request for "a shot" or pill to stop the pregnancy. There was no such shot or pill. Actually, an injection was available that acted as an indirect pregnancy test. If they were pregnant, the injection did nothing. If they weren't, it occasionally brought on a delayed menstrual period. I always recommended a real pregnancy test after explaining this. There was expression of disbelief; a girl friend had the shot and it stopped her pregnancy, or so they believed.

More recently, three companies in this country started research on injections and pills to cause an abortion. Some of the products were on license from France. When the Right to Life group expressed opposition, one company closed its lab and phased out its trials of the drug. The other two groups state that no company will dare market the drugs in this country. The first company had been threatened with a boycott of all its products.

Public opinion holds great power; no hospital, doctor or drug company dares disregard it.

CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY Board are coming out of the woodwork, now. In Dist. 6, Bob Grever, supervisor of Ela Twp., and Roberta O'Reilly, a former Buffalo Grove trustee, have announced this week that they will run in the Republican Primary for the seats in that district.

Just Politics

By Charles Johnston

The seats up are currently held by Jerry Beyer (R-Wauconda) and C. Richard Anderson (R-Barrington).

The entrance of Grever, which was expected, makes it almost certain that Beyer and Anderson will not run together. More likely, Beyer will team up with Grever or just run independently.

Things should heat up even more as the deadline for filing draws near. In Dist. 5, Bob Depke, supervisor of Warren Twp., is expected to announce his candidacy any day. He will be running against incumbents Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) and James Dolan (R-Libertyville).

The only real question about Depke's candidacy is who his running mate will be.

Medical Musings

By Dr. Leo Tannenbaum

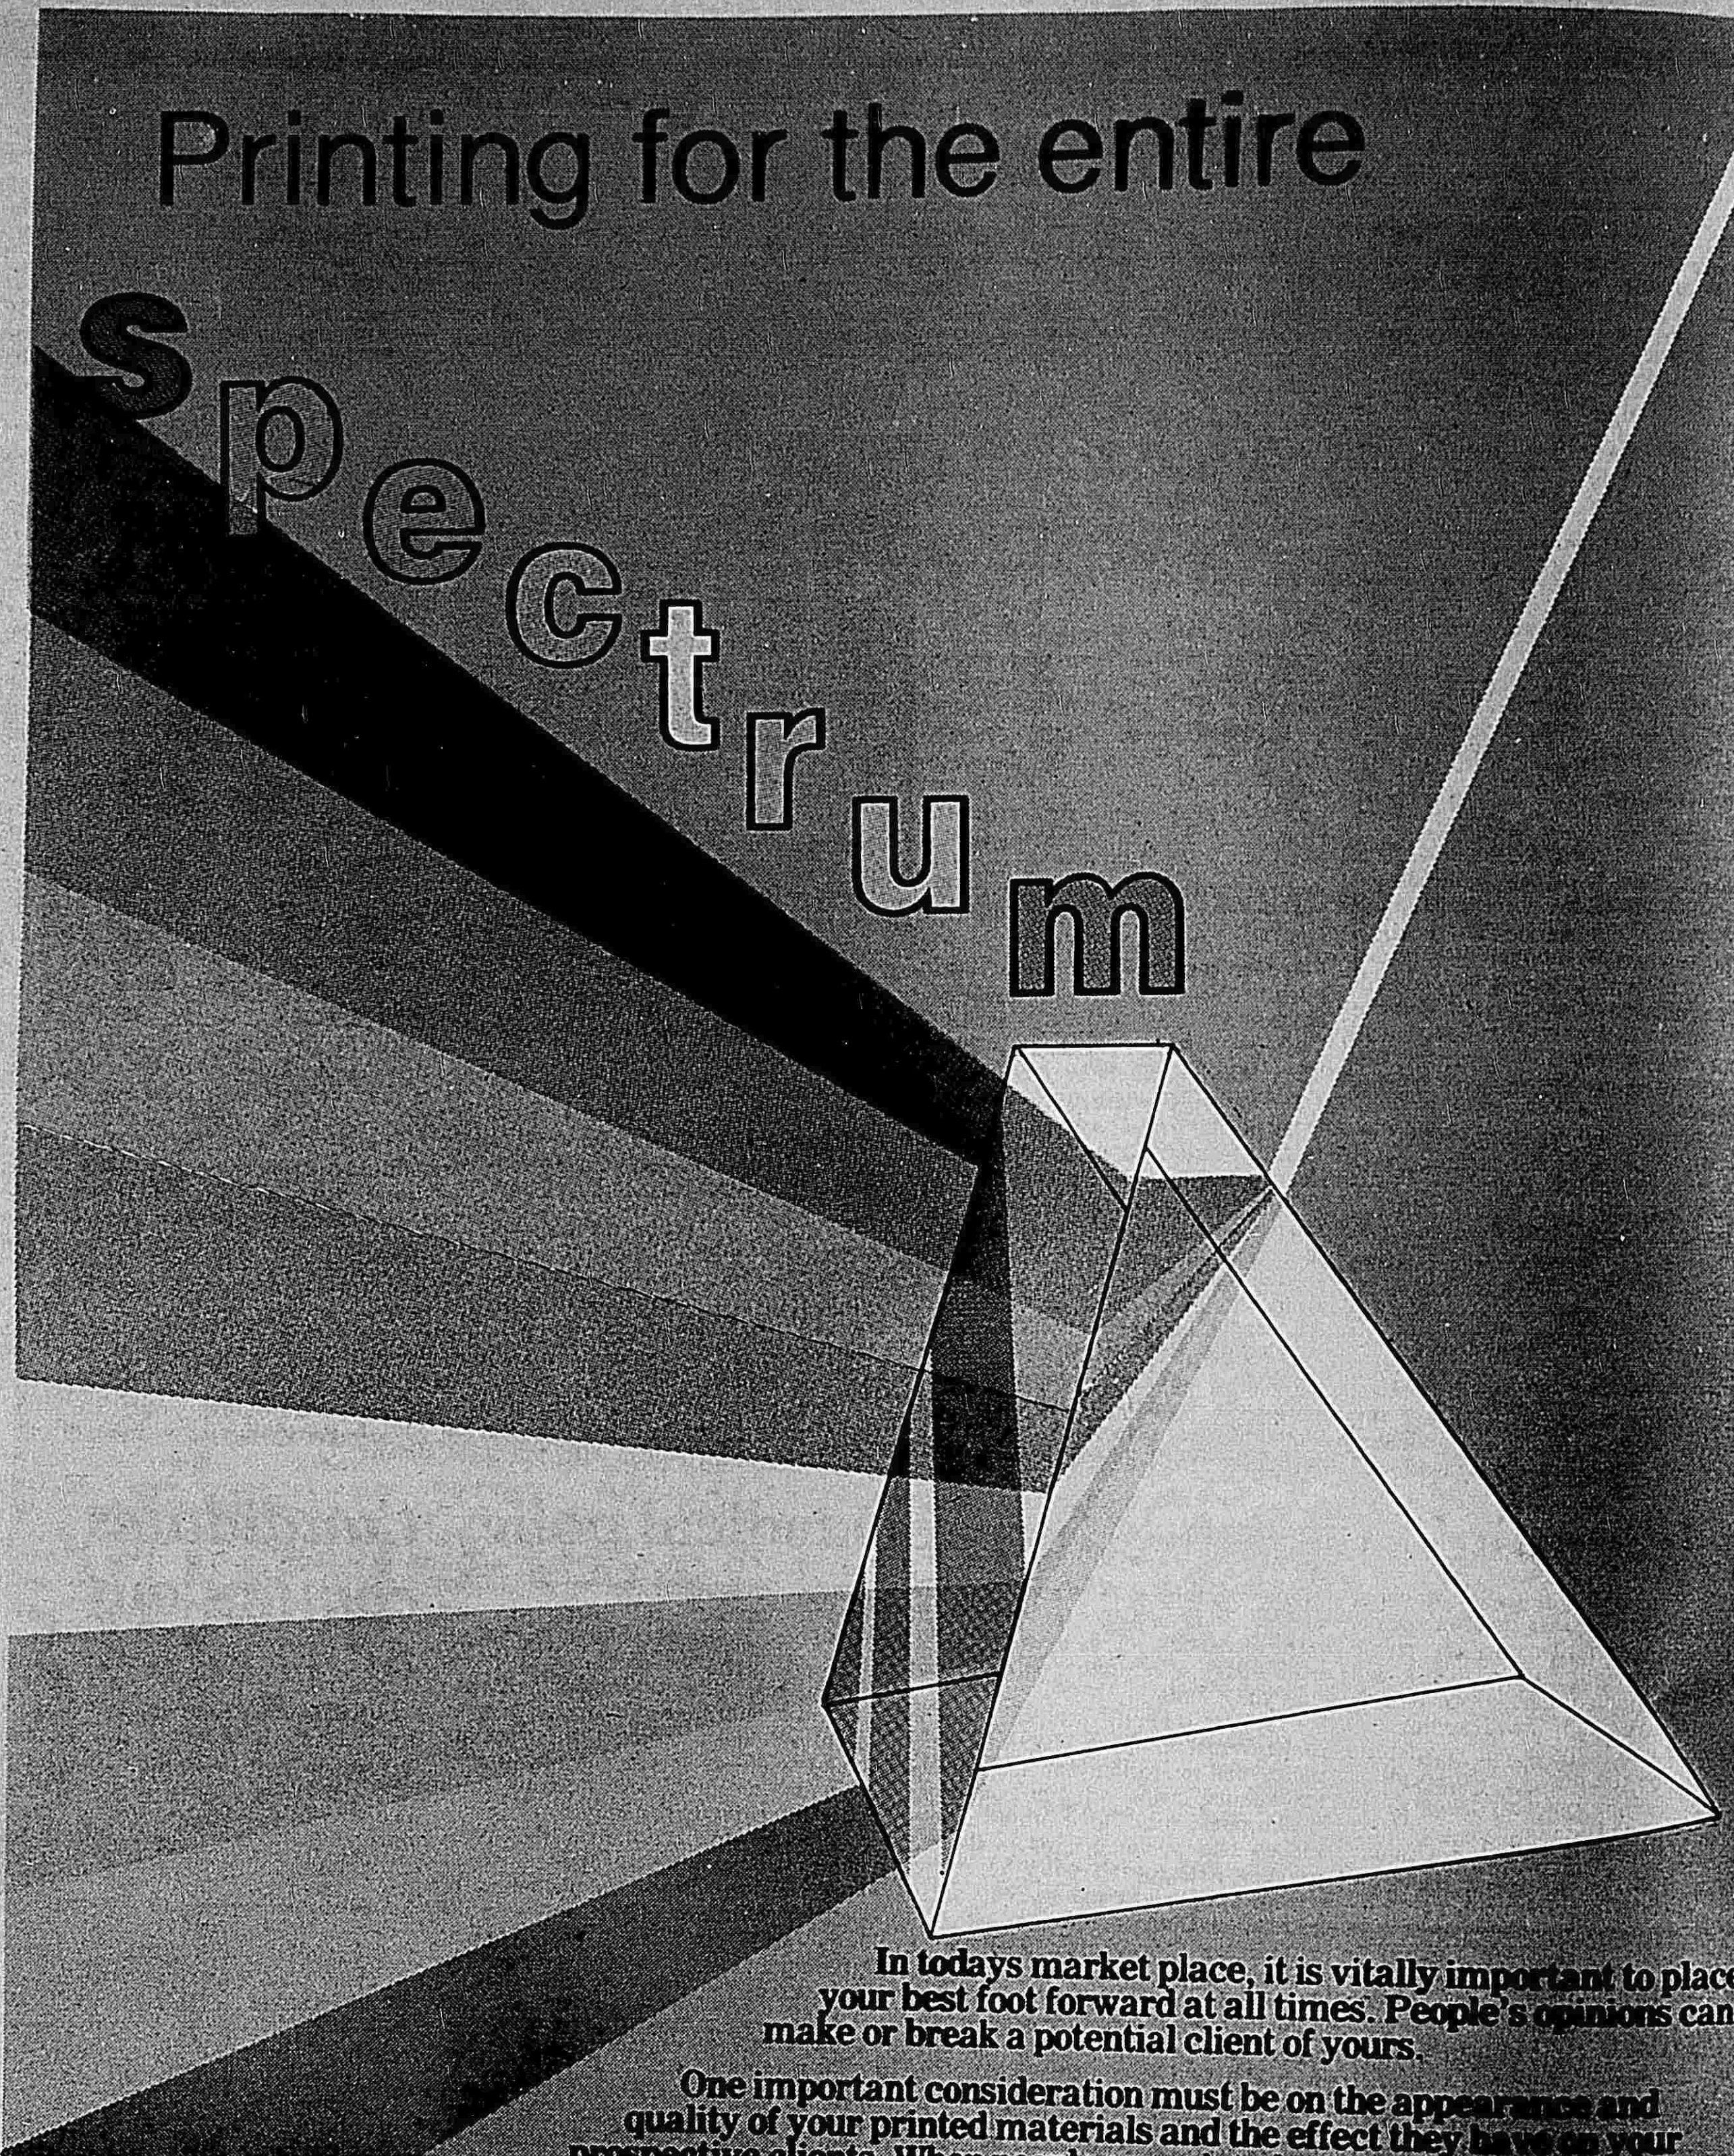

pressure on Congress, it affects the other two profoundly.

Millions are spent on public relations by hospitals, HMOs and insurance companies, individually and by their associations, to give the public the proper image. Doctors are only now realizing the value of advertising. Their associations tend to come on rather ineptly and wind up mostly with a negative image. The individual doctor is reluctant to advertise as blatantly as do the hospitals. Family practice groups are beginning to rectify this by a dignified campaign in the media.

Public opinion applies pressure on medicine in ways which may go unrecognized. Without necessarily endorsing or faulting them, let's look at some of them.

Company
afloat in aquariums

by KAREN WILTBERGER

Most college seniors think about 400-level courses and graduation. But all that Dennis Baureis could think about during his last semester was fish.

He set aside his psychology books and started a campaign to give away aquariums to businesses that agreed to hire him to maintain them. He won an account and with his last $200 he purchased a complete aquarium with tropical fish.

Sixteen years later Baureis, 37, still makes his living by giving away aquariums. He is owner of Aquarium Display Co. which he runs out of his Sunnyside home. Today he sets up and looks after more than 100 tropical fish tanks in northern Illinois.

Customers discuss their tastes and requirements with Baureis. He then installs and stocks the fish tanks, returning every week or two to maintain them.

The typical fish tank is the 30-gallon size stocked with 30-32 varieties of tropical fish, including angel fish, neon tetras and swordtails. Customers, however, have preferred tanks as large as 220 gallons.

Dennis Baureis displays fish tank

Most of his aquariums are in offices, hospitals and restaurants. Baureis will, however, take a private residence if the client purchases an aquarium and a maintenance schedule can be worked out.

His rates start at $68 per month. Besides a complete aquarium, that includes regular maintenance and premeasured packets of fish food. All the client has to do is feed the fish.

But if the client doesn't want to bother with that chore, an automatic feeding timer can be set up.

There are no contracts and a client can discontinue his service and keep the aquarium after 30 months. But by that time Baureis has not only proven his usefulness but has become friends with his clients.

Entrepreneurs air concerns

If state officials are serious about bolstering small business in Illinois, they received plenty of suggestions on how to do the job at a one-day Small Business Roundtable at the College of Lake County chaired by Lt. Gov. George H. Ryan.

One of the suggestions - repeated more than once - was that the state can think big about small business by thinking "small" - businesses of 10 employees or less.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) picked up on the theme of serving the small shop and the "one man band," by taking a shot at the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce.

"The state Chamber is geared for big business," Geo-Karis asserted flatly at the conference Thursday, Nov. 12.

Her assertion was rebutted immediately by a state Chamber representative, Robert Beck, but by then the outspoken distaff senator, one of about a dozen state senators and representatives, had made her point.

Brun Wesser, manager of the Zion-Winthrop Harbor - Beach Park Chamber of Commerce pointed out the difficulty of small business persons attending day-time meetings and urged that night meetings be considered.

Wesser also stressed that "truly small" concerns of less than 10 not be overlooked.

She was among a series of business persons addressing the meeting.

Marvin Smith, representing the Grayslake Economic Development Corp., urged legislators to make sure state mandates are fully funded and not passed on to local governments for funding.

Two speakers focused on S.B. 687, legislation providing for entrepreneurial education. They were Albert J. VanMerin of Arlington Heights, a teacher and operator of a small business, and Dr. Ed Harris, Northern Illinois University professor, who "fathered" the legislation.

William H. Schroeder, publisher/president of Lakeland Newspapers, stressed the need for relief of "voluntary quit" responsibility in determining unemployment compensation experience ratings. This point was echoed by other speakers.

Both Lt. Gov. Ryan and Robert Byrne, president of the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce and meeting moderator, recognized the turnout of nearly 200 persons as "more than expected" and a healthy sign that roundtables serve a worthwhile purpose.

Mazer employees hear urgency of seat belt use

The importance of using auto seat belts for highway safety was dramatically brought home for the 220 administrative and plant employees of Mazer Chemicals, Gurnee during a sobering presentation by a young man who is paralyzed from the neck down.

The speaker was Toney Lineberry, who lectures on highway safety under a public service program sponsored by PPG Industries.

The story he tells began when a routine argument ensued between Lineberry, who was 18 at the time, and his parents. It involved the use of a car they had just bought him as a reward for excellent academic standing in high school and his star quality as the captain of his school's wrestling team.

It was a winter evening 10 years ago. The weather was so bad, the snow and ice made venturing out so hazardous that the schools were closed. Lineberry left the house walking, came back with a friend and rolled the car quietly out of the driveway. Once away from the house, he started the engine and took off.

He didn't get very far. Going 60 miles an hour, his car hit a sheet of ice. The car turned over several times. Without his safety belt on, Lineberry was ricocheted from side to side as his car tumbled to a halt.

Later in the hospital, he learned that he was paralyzed from the neck down. He would never walk again.

Today, Lineberry is devoting his life to telling others that it can happen to them. He talks to groups that range in size from 10 people to a crowd of 2,000, warning them that statistics indicate that one out of every five motorists will be involved in an accident in any given year.

The gist of his story is, in addition to driving carefully, to be sure to wear a seat belt. The doctors who took care of Lineberry when he was hurt said that although he would have been seriously injured in the accident, if he had worn a seat belt, chances are he would be walking today.

"If you think putting on a seat belt is uncomfortable, try sitting in this wheelchair for 10 years," Lineberry said. "Remember, when you injure yourself, you also injure your loved ones. Try to imagine the pain my parents felt, as well as the financial strain they endured."

As for Lineberry, his dreams of going to college will never materialize. But he is a man of accomplishment; by the strength of his message, he is certainly saving others from the tragedy that turned his life upside down.

PPG Industries

arranged the talk under a public safety program that is part of a far-ranging national civic effort. Mazer Chemicals is a member of PPG's Chemical Group.

Seatbelts save lives

Toney Lineberry, a wheelchair victim of an auto accident, speaks to employees at Mazer Chemicals on hazards of driving without seat belt. He is paralyzed as result of his accident. His talk is part of public service program sponsored by PPG Industries.

Collision facts

✓ One out of every five drivers will be involved in a motor vehicle crash this year.

✓ Motor vehicle collisions are the number one cause of lost work time and on-the-job fatalities. Each employee fatality is estimated to cost the employer $120,000 in direct payments for medical costs, property damage, health care payments and other fringe benefits.

✓ Unless everyone in a vehicle is secure in the proper safety restraint, an unbelted person risks the lives of other passengers as well as his own life.

✓ In a 30 mph crash, an unbelted 160-pound person can strike another adult or child, crash through a windshield or slam into the vehicle's interior with a 4,800-pound force (vehicle speed times person's weight equals force of impact).

✓ Most fatal crashes occur on short trips within 25 miles of home.

✓ If a motorist remains inside the car in major crash instead of being thrown free, his or her chances of survival are 25 times greater.

REASONABLE PRICES — All year long

Why pay to heat this much space, when you're only using this much?

Fact is, by using an electric space heater and turning down the thermostat you can save up to 18 percent on your fuel bill this winter.

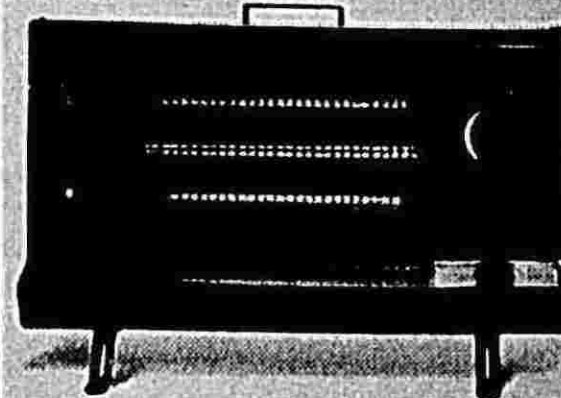

Because a space heater can keep you nice and snug at 70° while you keep the rest of the house at an economical 60°.

It's that 10° that makes the difference. You get the heat you need where you want it, in the rooms you're spending time in. That means you conserve everywhere else.

The savings more than offset the cost of the heater.

Which doesn't even begin to take into account what you'll save the next year. And the next year. And the year after.

So why pay to heat your furniture? Unless of course, you have money to burn.

Low cost of television shopping delights bargain hunters

by GARY S. MEYERS

Bargain hunters, don't touch that dial. The jewelry or VCR you've been looking for may be available on tv at a much lower price that you would pay in any store.

Not too long ago, video shopping was just a gleam in the eyes of high-tech hawkers who envisioned a new way of marketing discount merchandise. Now home-shopping networks sell almost $2 billion worth of goods annually on cable and UHF stations across the country.

But is shopping from an electronic catalog really cheaper and easier than hitting the streets and doing some good old-fashioned bargain hunting?

"Shopping by television is just a new twist on an old idea," said Theodore Deikel, chairman of the board of Cable Value Network (CVN), in Minneapolis. "It's so direct and convenient, it's like the mail-order business was 20 years ago."

But an informed shopper - the most powerful force in a free economy - is likely to question the value of merchandise that sometimes is sold at less than half its retail price. Such pricing is one of the hallmarks of CVN and many other shopping networks.

"There are no gimmicks here. People think there are gimmicks...it's that simple," said Baureis.

Baureis buys his tropical fish wholesale and spends eight weeks ridding them of any disease. During that time, it is not unusual for 20 to 30 percent of the fish to die. "I take the loss rather than the customer," he said. Even if fish die later, Baureis will replace them.

A Lake County native, Baureis is not. He started the business in Chicago and moved to the Chain area eight years ago as an escape. Most of his accounts are still south, but he would like to cut down travel time and open more accounts in Lake County.

"The one thing I don't do is account for my own time," Baureis said.

Baureis' interest in fish and business became apparent at the age of 10 when he and a friend each invested $25 to buy a pair of black and a pair of gold siamese fighting fish (bettas). They mated the fish and sold 500-600 of them for 50 cents each.

By the time Baureis was 12 years old he had 40 10-gallon tanks in his basement without spending another dime.

Baureis provides free consultations and can be reached at (312) 283-2833 or (815) 344-4433.

CVN maintains a large network of buyers who watch for going-out-of-business sales, model close-outs, overstocks and other "opportunistic buys" in which a volume of merchandise must be cleared out at any cost.

"We're coming up with limited quantities, so whoever gets there first will get the items," Deikel said.

Volume purchases are not the only way costs are kept down. How else? Part of the answer, while not right under your nose, is right over your head.

Companies like CVN are taking advantage of the boom in low-cost satellite-access and passing on those savings to their customers. A shopping network pays only a flat "uplink" fee when it transmits its show to a satellite for distribution to regional cable companies.

"You can be seen by 18 people or by 18 million and you don't pay any extra," Deikel said.

Charges for access to the cable companies themselves are based not on the number of viewers but on the volume of sales a shopping network garners.

A brief look at most home-shopping programs themselves reveals a further cost-cutting element. "We don't run a fancy production," said Deikel. "When you look at our show, you see a person demonstrating a product."

But don't rush to the telephone yet. While cable shopping is a potential boon to a cost-conscious public, there are mines floating in the sea of bargains. Some can be avoided by common sense, while others require a little more diligence.

— Credit cards. Shopping by telephone is seductive when all you have to do is read a few numbers to an operator. Don't be lulled into spending a lot of money by credit-card. If you want to be safe, pay by check. Some programs offer their own payment schedules, interest free.

— Brand names. Not every product sold on a home-shopping network will have a well-known brand name, but if a shopping channel offers brand-name products on a regular basis, you have a better chance of being satisfied with your purchase.

— Guarantees. Find out what kind of guarantee you receive with any product you plan to buy. A bargain is no bargain when you can't get satisfaction on defective merchandise.

— Customer service. Just because you're paying a lower price, don't settle for cut-rate treatment. Deikel said this is not a problem for patrons of CVN where the distribution process is automated and most orders are processed within one and a half days.

"We have 200 people who do nothing but talk to customers. If something is wrong, we act to correct it," he said.

Cable companies also keep tabs on the customer-satisfaction quotient for home-shopping networks, according to Burch. He said Newport News CableVision had a few complaints from its viewers about CVN during the company's start-up, but that those have trailed off lately.

Burch said his firm asked CVN to "call us back and report on their customer service, which they did. We even ordered a few products to see if they were delivered as promised."

Health Dept. urges screening for diabetes

The Lake County Health Dept. is urging persons who have a family history of diabetes to be screened by their physician or a local hospital during Diabetes Month in November. Diabetes Month is a project of the Northern Illinois Affiliate of the American Diabetes Assn., in conjunction with local hospitals.

"Nearly 22,500 people in Lake County have diabetes. Over 40 percent do not know it," said Steven R. Potsic, M.D., M.P.H., executive director of the Lake County Health Dept. "If diabetes is inadequately treated, substantial medical problems such as heart disease, kidney disease and blindness can result."

Diabetes is a disorder in which the body is unable to use glucose effectively because of inadequate secretion or utilization of insulin.

The diabetic person may experience: increased urination as the body tries to eliminate excess sugar, strong feelings of thirst because the body is trying to replace the lost water, increase in appetite because the body is requiring more food for energy, weight loss and tiredness, infections, slow healing, itching, numbness or tingling in the hands or feet, or changes in vision.

Diabetes can be controlled through weight loss, exercise, diet, and/or the use of insulin.

The following hospitals are offering free diabetes screenings. All require advance registration and request that diagnosed diabetics not participate in the screenings:

St. Therese Hospital, Nov. 15-21, call (312)360-2530; Victory Memorial Hospital, Nov. 16-20, call (312)360-4161; Condell Memorial Hospital, Nov. 15-21, call (312)362-2900, ext. 5120; Highland Park

Hospital, Nov. 15-21, call (312)432-8000; Good Shepherd Hospital, Nov. 16-21, call (312)381-9600 ext. 5173.

Lake Forest Hospital is offering a program for diabetics and their families, entitled "Handling Holiday Stress," at the hospital on Nov. 19. Call (312)234-6137 to make a reservation.

OBITUARIES

William Frederick Hayden

age 70, of Antioch, Illinois passed away Thursday, November 12, 1987 at his home. He was born March 23, 1917 in Monmouth, Illinois. He received his engineering degree from Marquette University in 1940 and pursued graduate studies at the University of Iowa. He was a member of the professional engineering fraternity Sigma Phi Delta. Mr. Hayden was a naval officer in Europe during World War II. In addition to his duties as a salvage diving commander, he was an official naval photographer. In 1946, he joined Abbott Laboratories as Plant Engineer, and retired as Operations Manager of Utilities after 35 years. Mr. Hayden was active as an Explorer Scout advisor and worked with the Boy Scouts of Antioch for many years. With his wife, he owned and operated Hayden's Tree Farm for 37 years and was an expert forester. He had served as a director of the Lake County Soil and Water Conservation Dist. and was an active supporter of other environmental and conservation groups including the Audubon Society, the Nature Conservancy and the National and World Wildlife Funds. He had also served as a member of the Newport Grade School and as a trustee of the Newport Twp. Fire Protection Dist.

Survivors include his wife of 39 years, Patricia; two daughters, Cynthia (Russell) Houser of Atlanta, Georgia, and Judi of Santa Fe, New Mexico; two sisters, Cecilia (Noble) Baldwin of Moline, Illinois and Eva Mays of Denver, Colorado; three brothers, John (Betty) Hayden of Illinois City, Ill., David (Donna) Hayden of Muscatine, Iowa, and Richard Hayden of Chevy Chase, Maryland as well as many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his son, Andrew Leroy, in 1971.

Funeral services were held at 11 a.m. Monday, November 16, 1987 at the STRANG FUNERAL HOME, Antioch, Illinois. The Rev. Paul Metzler of the Millburn Congregational Church officiated. Interment was at Hickory Union Cemetery, Newport Twp., Illinois. Friends desiring may make contributions to the Nature Conservancy General Fund, P.O. Box 17056, Baltimore, Md., 21298.

Hildegard North

age 83, of McHenry, Illinois passed away Sunday,

November 15, 1987 at Lake Forest Hospital, Lake Forest, Illinois.

She was born December 21, 1933 in Lampertheim, Germany. She came to the United States in 1964 and had lived in California and Antioch, Illinois. She worked for Baxter Travenol in Round Lake, Illinois from 1978 until her retirement, due to her health, in 1986. She had worked prior for Rustoleum Co. On May 4, 1960 she married James North in Germany.

Survivors include her husband, James; one daughter, Debra (Tom) Graczyk of Hoffman Estates, Illinois; two sisters, Henriette Turner of Paso Robles, California and Liselotte Glaser of Rapid City, S.D.; also two sisters and three brothers in Germany; and one grandchild, Crystal Michelle.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, November 18, 1987 at STRANG FUNERAL HOME, 1055 Main St., Antioch, Illinois with Rev. Steve Sward of Antioch Evangelical Free Church officiating. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery, Antioch, Illinois.

John J. "Max" McGrath

age 82, of Fox Lake, Illinois passed away Sunday, November 15, 1987 at Northern Illinois Medical Center, McHenry, Illinois.

He was born November 6, 1905 in Sterling, Illinois and had lived in the Lake Zurich and Antioch area for many years, moving to Fox Lake recently. He had worked as a pharmacist for King's years before his retirement.

Survivors include his wife, Leona; three sons, Edward (Valerie) McGrath of Wauconda, Illinois; James (Judy) McGrath of Indianapolis, Indiana; Charles (Sonja) Davis of Antioch, Illinois; two daughters, Susan (Leonard) Poterek of Mundelein, Illinois and Sharon (Roland) Lichester of Spring Grove, Illinois; three sisters, Helen and Marion McGrath of Carthage, Illinois and Bernice (Kenneth) Tompkins of Las Vegas, Nevada; 14 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services were private, with arrangements by the STRANG FUNERAL HOME of Antioch, Illinois. Friends desiring may make contributions to the Fox Lake Rescue Squad.

United Way reaches 59 percent

The 1987 General Campaign Chairman for the United Way of Lake County has announced that over $2 million has been raised in Lake County as of Nov. 5.

"We're at 59 percent of the $3.4 million goal and all preliminary results look positive," said Kenneth W. Farmer, who, along with being campaign chairman is vice president of information services at Abbott Laboratories.

This achievement is due to the outstanding efforts of all the United Way of Lake County volunteers, as well as the generous support from local businesses and Lake County residents.

"We still can't relax," said Farmer, noting that there are only four weeks remaining in the campaign and 40 percent left to achieve the goal.

The final results of the 1987 campaign will be reported at the Dec. 3 Victory Celebration which will be held at the Northern Chalet in Libertyville from 5 to 7 p.m. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Check It Out!

by GLORIA DAVIS

Good taste

Had a memorable birthday lunch at Froggies in Highwood. The cream of asparagus soup was yummy and the house dressing on the salad, a bit of nothing that was really something.

The main course, baby lobster in a creamy ginger sauce, was very special.

But remember, this kind of dining cannot be done on a McDonald's budget!

Chef Ronald's Home Style Deli in Antioch had a special soup sampling a few Saturday's ago to introduce Chef Ronald's gourmet soups. Love that Wisconsin cheese soup!

Chef Ronald Nelson, a Lake Zurich resident, has expanded catering services adding those special soups plus specialty meats, cheeses and those wonderful, but sinful, gourmet bakery items.

Be there!

This week has been set aside to honor arts in Illinois and speaking in an artsy vein, there will be more arts and crafts shows between now and the holidays than you can shake a wallet at, but I hear that the one set for the Lake County Fairgrounds in Grayslake, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 29, could be an interesting one.

Birdwatchers everywhere! The program at the Volo Bog State Natural Area will be featuring a search for cardinals, finches and sparrows. Bring binoculars!

And while we're into the natural state of things, another program at the Bog, at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 22, will be talking about coping with the coming winter winds, etc.

Tv trivia buffs might enjoy a program on "Little House Lore" featuring info on Laura Ingalls Wilder that will be held at the Kenosha West Branch Library from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m., on Saturday, Nov. 21.

Lynn Urban, in costume, will be sharing artifacts and pictures.

It will be holiday time for art lovers too who will all appreciate CLC's Christmas Art Festival that will be running 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., from Nov. 30 to Dec. 3.

Musical notes

The Evanston String Quartet will be strumming away at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Bowen Park, at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 22.

The price is right for free tickets to hear the CLC Jazz Ensemble Concert at the college's auditorium this Sunday, at 7 p.m. The ensemble will be directed by Bruce Mack and a special musical mystery guest will appear.

The high energy jazz ensemble will play a return engagement of their fall concert at the Coronet Playhouse in Evanston, from 8 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and from 3 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 27, 28 and 29.

Glittering benefit raises $12,000

by GLORIA DAVIS

The grand ballroom of the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort was filled with well-dressed ladies and gentlemen, not only waiting to see an exciting fashion show or to win one of the great door prizes, but also to join in raising money for cancer research.

The show, "Predictions in Fashions," sponsored by the 10th Dist. of GFW Ill. Federation of Women's Clubs, was done by lovely and handsome models, dressed in creations that became more stunning as the show progressed.

Chairman Mary Goodman, and co-chairmen, Jeann Frank and Dodee Connelly, did a fine job of coordinating and promoting the show which was choreographed by Cindy Legler. Proof of the pudding is in the fact that $12,000 was raised in one Sunday afternoon.

Besides the lovely volunteer models, fashions were shown by such dignitaries as Mrs. Illinois, Debra McMichaels, (wife of Chicago Bear Steve McMichaels), Sherri Perry, (wife of the "Refrigerator"), who headed for the Bear game in Denver as soon as their plane could take off. The parents of tv star Gary Coleman, Sue and Willie Coleman, and Lake County Coroner Barb Richardson were among the celebrity models.

WXLC's and county board candidate, Larry Leafblad was emcee for the afternoon. Pat and Michael Rodbro gave a personal talk on their bout against cancer.

Some of the clothes were from Gallaghers, Chicago and DesPlaines, with furs from the Mink Barn in Union. The show's finale featured dozens of smashing couterier costumes designed by Mira of Glenview.

Even the guys were sporting reversible fur and leather jackets and one wore a full-length mink top coat.

The glitter and glitz of the holiday party fashions, done by Mira, was the show's highlight with McMichaels wearing an iridescent mini-gown.

Most of the cocktail dresses were dripping with glitter and topped with matching shimmery cocktail hats.

There was an emerald green taffeta ballgown that took one's breath away and a soft and lacey black leather cocktail suit that stopped the show.

Interim entertainment was furnished by the prize winning orchesis class of St. Viator's High School in Arlington Heights.

The list of winners of sumptuous door prizes includes: Susan Schlaper, Libertyville, trip to Reno; Carmela Fucarino, Addison, mink jacket; Mary Eastmann, Elmhurst, weekend at Ritz Carlton; Joanne Lyman, Gurnee, Great America getaway; E. Reotutor, savings bond, State Bank of Antioch; M. Chmura, Mundelein, silver coin, First National Bank of Antioch.

Other winners were: Thelma Blumberg, Gurnee, dinner at Phil Johnsons; Ann St. Pierre, Antioch, Charmglow grill; Wendy Sampolinski, Wildwood, $30 gift certificate Constantines, Kasi Joerges, collectors plate, Pickard China; E. Patterson, Mundelein, collectors plate, Pickard; Eileen Grehun, Waukegan, brunch at Allgauer.

Handbell choir coming

On Saturday, Nov. 28, from 4 to 7 p.m., in Sears Court of Hawthorn Center, the First Presbyterian Handbell Choir, under direction of Paul McKenzie, will be in concert.

Adler to offer dual bill

The David Adler Cultural Center will offer a double bill of fine words and music when it presents master guitarist Shinobu Sato and seasoned storyteller Jim May in concert in two shows on Saturday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Shinobu Sato has played before audiences in the United States and China, as well as his native Japan, and he is at home with the many voices and idioms of the guitar.

His repertoire includes classical, jazz, folk, blues, ragtime, swing and show tunes. An instructor at the Adler Center, he has recorded one album with other musicians, and has a solo album in the works.

A welcome visitor to Adler, May tells stories about all ages for listeners of all ages. He is a director of the Illinois Storytelling Festival.

Concert admission is $5 for adults; $4.50 for members; $3 for senior citizens, anyone with a valid student ID and children six to 12; and free for children under six.

The David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, is a non-profit organization. For more information, call (312) 367-0707.

Fair to feature top comedian and puppets

Not only will President Ronald Reagan make an appearance at the Holiday Craft & Gift Show, but also life-size puppets of former Presidents Ford, Nixon and Carter; as comedian Jim Teter impersonates them on Nov. 27, 28 and 29 at the Wisconsin State Fair Park, 8100 West Greenfield Ave., Milwaukee.

Teter utilizes stand-up humor, political satire, sound effects, ventriloquism and weaves them together with clever comedy. Teter will thrill all with his duplication of movie stars' voices; one minute one is on a wagon trail with Jimmy Stewart, John Wayne and Truman Capote, the next minute ducking ones head to avoid rockets and jet planes as he recreates an invasion through the mastery of his unique sound effects at 1 and 3 p.m. all three days of the South Pole Stage.

Teter is more than just a comedian, he is a versatile powerhouse performer, opening acts and appearing with many stars in Las Vegas. His 20-year professional career has seen him with such performers as Steve Allen, Dolly Parton, John Davidson, Vikki Carr, Pearl Bailey, Red Skelton, Tammy Wynette, Osmond Brothers, Bobby Goldsboro, Mickey Gilley, Juice Newton and more.

His talents have led him to perform on "The Tonight Show," "Norm Crosby's Comedy TV Show," "Las Vegas Hilton," "Mike Douglas Show," "Harrah's Hotel in Reno and Lake Tahoe, touring to 27 countries, the White House Press Corps Banquet, and Knott's Berry Farm. What better opening act could a former president have than Teter, who livened up an audience before Gerald Ford's speech.

The Holiday Craft & Gift Show, a combined show of over 600 exhibits of crafts and gifts, is coming this way Nov. 27, 28 and 29, Wisconsin State Fair Park, Milwaukee.

Holiday spirit to arrive

Old-fashioned Christmas spirit comes to the historic Village of Long Grove

On the weekends of new gingerbread house; Nov. 27-29, Dec. 5-6, 12-13 and 20-21, Santa Claus Long Grove is located at Rtes. 53 and 83.

Melodrama will mesmerize audience

PM&L's cast is ready to glue audiences to their seats in true melodramatic style. Larry Bersie's direction with Mark Badtke's stage management have prepared for the opening performance of "Pure as the Driven Snow" this Friday.

Good guys and bad guys abound with the following cast. The hero and heroine are portrayed by Peter Thelen and Debbie Beno, with Connie Sturm as Zamah Logan, and Sander Sundberg as Jonathan Logan, the innkeepers.

The villains, Mortimer Frothingham and Jed

Lunn are played by Phread Kosmach and Frank Torres. E.Z. Pickens is Kevin Polheber with Imogene Pickens by Regina Reynolds. Carol Malson is Ethelinda Hewlitt, Diane Dunham is Allison Hewlitt. Also with Carol Lentine as Faith Hogue, Debbie Ramsey as Letty Barber, and Lorrie Ferguson as Nellie Morris.

Come boo and hiss by making reservations at (312) 395-3055, PM&L Theatre in Antioch. Curtain is 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21.

Rock Tracks

Earth, Wind and Fire is about to release their first new album in four years. Founder Maurice White, the guy Musician Magazine has called a "genius," put out a good solo album which deliberately sidestepped commerciality and is therefore doomed to the discount rack. He has also written and produced material for Neil Diamond, Barbra Streisand and film soundtracks.

Phillip Bailey has been busy as well. He did his own LP with Phil Collins as producer which yielded a Top Ten single a few years back entitled "Easy Lover."

So it looked as if Earth, Wind and Fire would never get back together until Bailey began hounding Maurice White to get the old gang rounded up. Finally, in 1986, they went into the studio with Sheldon Reynolds, who had played in the Commodores. One year later they emerged with Touch The World, their first offering since '83.

On the self-entitled debut album last year, Bourgeois Tagg placed its strong pop tendencies in a firm dance groove, scoring an MTV hit with the single "Mutual Surrender," which Robert Palmer and Nancy Wilson of Heart cited as one of the best of '86 in Rolling Stone. On Yoyo, however, their current LP, it sounds as if they're trying to mix Sly and the Family Stone with The Beatles, which is a tough nut to crack — and they don't. With Todd Rundgren as producer, the album has to be pop, and it is. All in all, this record is very much like their first one.

'La Cage Aux Folles' heads to Candlelight

The Regional Theatre Premiere of the sensational Broadway musical comedy, "La Cage Aux Folles," will be Dec. 9 at Candlelight Dinner Playhouse.

The leading roles will be played by James Harms as Albin, and Joel Craig as Georges, the owners of the infamous La Cage Aux Folles Nightclub on the French Riviera.

Harms has been a fixture of Chicago Theatre for over 20 years, and many of those years have been spent doing long runs at Candlelight.

He won Jeff Awards for his performances as Cornelius in "Hello, Dolly!" at Candlelight, and as the Old Actor in "The Fantasticks" at The Forum.

Harms spent two years touring with national companies of "Evita." In addition to performing, he has choreographed many shows at Candlelight, including "My One and Only" and "Hello, Dolly!" winning awards for both.

Craig has appeared on Broadway as M. deRougement in "Very Good Eddie," Willy Wheeler in "Follies," the Marquis in "Cyrano," in the original company of "Hello, Dolly!" and "Subways are for Sleeping." Off-Broadway he was seen as John Barrymore in "Tallulah," as Marco the Magnificent in "Carnival," the emcee in "Speakeasy," Lucas in "The Last Metro," and Lech Walesa in "Solidarity."

"La Cage Aux Folles" is based on the popular film and French farce by Jean Poiret. It is a show simply about love, personal acceptance and human dignity.

The Broadway hit with music and lyrics by Jerry Herman and book by Harvey Fierstein won six Tony Awards, including best musical. "La Cage" spells the best of Broadway glitter with a dazzling display of legs, costumes and lavish dance numbers.

The cast includes John Ruess and Jill Walmsley as the son and fiancée of the bizarre couple who operate the nightclub. Dale Benson and Sharon Place appear as the Minister of Morality of France and his wife.

Featured are Gordon McClure as an off-beat maid, and Ami Silvestre as the owner of a chic French restaurant. The notorious "Les Cagelles" are played by David Bedella, Rudy Hogenmiller, Michael McCauley, Michael Ian-lerner, Trudie Petersen, Ann Haskel, Rob Rahn, and Rhae Ann Theriault. Phil LaDuca plays the nightclub manager.

"La Cage" has settings designed by Gary Baugh, costumes designed by Kaye Nottbusch, lighting designed by Paul Miller and sound designed by David Pomatto.

Musical direction is by Nick Venden, choreography by Rudy Hogenmiller, production stage manager is Bill Walters, technical director is David Pomatto, associate director is June Pullinsi, and the production is directed by William Pullinsi.

Candlelight is renowned as "America's first and premiere dinner theatre." Plan a complete evening by calling (312)496-3000 for reservations (all major credit cards accepted). Candlelight is located at 5620 S. Harlem Ave., Summit, 15 minutes from downtown Chicago via the Stevenson Expressway. Parking is free.

Fall fishing on Chain can be most productive

by COL. BILL RADKE

Fall temperatures have leveled to average and above and fishing of the Illinois Chain of Lakes on a sunny day can be productive.

Broad shouldered, yellow sunshine stripers continue to be our most productive catch this year. Last Monday we boated a dozen or so keepers in the eight to 10 inch size. They were taking minnows in a drifting pattern, interrupted by anchoring when a strike occurred, just to be sure others of this schooling variety were not being overlooked.

Coroner models

My location market is a homemade, carved styrofoam creation in the form of a 6-inch letter H, with 30 feet of line tied to the cross-section of the letter. A heavy iron nut tied to the end of the line quickly carried it to the bottom.

Pitch it to where the fish hit and the H flips like the paddles of a stern wheeler in the process, but then lies flat on the surface, loses no additional line and marks the location quite exactly. Run upwind and drift it back to it a time or two to check the area, or drop anchor above it and cast into the general float area. They all seem to work at times, but not always...fish are movers.

I was pleasantly surprised to land a slab crappie measuring 11 inches. It reminded me of a Kentucky Lake one pounder, but stripers outnumbered crappie 16 to two. It's been much that way all fall...just can't get into crappie like other years.

Fishing is a battle that combines wits and senses and some application of both will pay off for the angler. We know fish can see and hear underwater, as well as receive messages from above water. Biologists tell us a fish can look upward and see into the air space where it can detect both movements and sounds. Fish have no eyelids or tear ducts and the placement of the eyes on both sides of its head will produce two separate scenes, rather than binocular vision.

Fishing line manufacturers base their monofilament production on the old adage, "What you can't see won't hurt you," and try to duplicate the color of water in their monofilament, or use a clear-clouded effect to make it visually unnoticeable.

Tharp and Co. graphically clear

by TOM WITOM

Twyla Tharp, dancer and choreographer who has created more than 80 dances, once told an interviewer: "I'm not a big one for mystery. I like things to be very clear."

She illustrated that concept graphically during her four-day tour at Chicago's Auditorium Theatre in mid-November. The Twyla Tharp Dance Company once again captivated old fans—and wooed new ones—with an electrifying display of its newest masterwork, "In the Upper Room" and a mellower classic, "Nine Sinatra Songs."

In a word, "Upper Room," first presented here at the Ravinia Festival in August 1986, was "moving." That's not just a play on words, either.

Thirteen dancers, clad in black and white striped costumes, emerge suddenly from billowy clouds of smoke to take their various places on an otherwise bare stage. Caught in a crossfire of brilliant spotlights, the dancers become one with the pulsating rhythms of the music of Philip Glass.

And the audience becomes one with the dancers. As the sequence progresses, flashes of red appear, first in the belts, then socks, shoes and finally t-shirts. Footwear ranges from toe shoes to unconventional sneakers. But it doesn't detract from the precise, well-disciplined movements called for.

In the Sinatra dance, Twyla Tharp's company does many variations of the theme. The pleasure comes from watching their straight-forward, albeit highly stylized routines, the epitome of grace and finesse.

As an extra fillip, Tharp demonstrates her talent by performing with Jamie Rishton in a duet, "One for My Baby (And One More for the Road)."

Twyla Tharp and Co. is what contemporary dance is all about.

Korpan's plans parade, party

It's time again for Korpan's Landing Yacht Club's annual Christmas Parade. They anticipate the parade to be bigger and better than ever this year, provided it gets support.

Entries in the parade are needed, whether it be a float, decorated car or marching unit. Not only is it a chance for excellent public exposure of any business or organization, but participants will be contributing to a feeling of civic pride and unity for the Village of Fox Lake and the Chain O'Lakes area.

As a new feature, a judging and reviewing stand will be located in the Lakeland Shopping Plaza. After judging and reviewing, the parade will continue to the Grant Community High School parking lot. This will follow the Fox Lake Chamber of Commerce pancake breakfast, which will be held earlier at the facility.

There will be a Christmas party on Saturday, Nov. 28, after the parade, at Korpan's Landing. The party is for children of the parade participants and club members.

Refreshments and candy will be at the party, along with Santa Claus; donations of "anything" are needed for the party. Financial support will be appreciated, and even more helpful would be an entry in the parade.

Children 10 years and younger coming to the party should be registered in advance, so the club has some idea of the number to be in attendance.

Pancake breakfast Nov. 21

The Lakes Chapter Order of DeMolay for Boys, sponsored by Libertyville Lodge No. 492 will hold a pancake breakfast from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Nov. 21 at the Libertyville Masonic Temple, 356 Brainerd Ave., Libertyville. Cost is $3 per person; children under six are $1.50.

ASK TONI

'Sledge Hammer!' co-star lives with her pet parrot

By Toni Reinhold

I'd like to know a little something about Anne-Marie Martin of "Sledge Hammer!" What can you tell me? - D.M., Lynn, Mass.

Anne-Marie Martin

Martin, who plays Dori Doreau on the ABC series, is a native of Toronto, Canada. She starred on the NBC soap "Days of Our Lives," playing Gwen Davies, and later appeared in the series "Rafferty" and "Doctors' Private Lives." Her feature-film credits include "Prom Night" (1980), "Savage Harvest" (1981) and "Runaway" (1984). She is single and lives with her pet parrot. Around the "Sledge Hammer!" set she is known for her practical jokes.

Was Roger Moore a regular on "Maverick"? What about Jack Kelly? And when did James Garner leave the series? - E.L., Grand Rapids, Mich.

This Western series aired from 1957 to 1962 on ABC, and starred James Garner as Bret Maverick. When Garner left the series in 1960, Bret's brother Bart, played by Jack Kelly, took a more prominent role, and a new character, cousin Beauregard Maverick, was introduced. Beauregard was played by Roger Moore. In 1961 yet another brother came on the scene - Brent Maverick, played by Robert Colbert. In its final season, the series aired new episodes that focused on Bart Maverick and reruns that featured him and Bret.

Is Richard Chamberlain an only child? - P.E.P., Concord, N.H.

Chamberlain, who stars in ABC's upcoming miniseries "The Bourne Identity," has a brother, William.

What is the movie in which Lindsay Wagner travels back in time by putting on a dress she has found in an attic? - B.W., Deland, Fla.

You're thinking of "The Two Worlds of Jennie Logan," (1979), a TV movie that also starred Marc Singer, Alan Feinstein and Linda Gray.

Where can I write to Mary Hart? - D.P., Williamsport, Pa.

Send mail to Hart at "Entertainment Tonight," c/o Paramount Pictures, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90038.

(Send your letters to Ask Toni, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, N.Y. 10166. Due to the large volume of mail, personal replies cannot be given.)

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) Your mate has a fantastic idea for a really good time out, so be sure you go along with these ideas, even if you're reluctant. Consider all possibilities.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) There may be a few problems coming your way, so be sure you get everything handled now that you can. Don't lose your temper with family or friends.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) The least expensive amusements are the best right now. It might be nice to spend some quiet time at home since your social schedule is easing up.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) You may have been neglecting your home life lately, so focus your attention on harmony there. It's important to rest up now for the busy holiday season.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) It may be fun to reminisce through old memorabilia. This may give you ideas for holiday party guests. Put off serious planning for a more relaxed time.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try to be more cooperative with others; you will be needing their help in the very near future. You will enjoy yourself at quiet recreations this week.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) If you pay your mate some extra special attention, the rewards could be overwhelming. Make some plans for some good times out with your old buddies.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) There may be obstacles in your line of progress, especially the boss, so use tact in removing them. If you ignore crude remarks, you will be better off.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Your courtesy and diplomacy are needed to get you through some rough times ahead. Just maintain a steadfast course and persevere smoothly.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Instead of wondering why your friends don't call you, why not pick up the phone and call them? This could bring about a fun and light reunion.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Once you show that stubborn associate your willingness to cooperate, he or she will back down and give you an opportunity to voice your opinion.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) It might be wise to make that business contact a valuable friend. Your mate may seem a bit irritable now, but take this with a grain of salt.

A student exchange program brought two students from Brazil and Australia to Illinois State Capitol to watch American government in action. From left are State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-31), Raphael Rossi of Brazil, Gov. James Thompson, Anthony Cooper of Australia, and State Rep. Robt. Churchill (R-62). Both students are sponsored by the Antioch Rotary Club.

Lindblad wasn't running

Former president of the Antioch High School Board of Education, Robert Lindblad, was not a write-in candidate for the Regional School Board as reported in the Nov. 13 issue of the Antioch News-Reporter. Lindblad is expecting to be appointed in January to finish two years of a six year term on the board being vacated by William Brook. The error was a source mistake as the newspaper reported what it was told by a representative of the Regional Board.

"That's the first time I lost an election and I wasn't even running," said Lindblad.

Holidays making entrance!

For the first time, Santa's arrival in Antioch, the village's tree lighting ceremony and the annual Christmas Parade will happen at the same time, on the Friday after Thanksgiving, starting with the tree lighting at 6:30 p.m. in front of the village hall.

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring the simultaneous lighting of the twinkle lights placed in 60 locust trees in the commercial area at the same time that the village trees are lit.

At 6:45 p.m., a glittering Christmas parade will follow in which Santa will ride as he makes his annual arrival.

Santa will be in his house to talk to area children starting on Saturday, at specified times until Christmas.

New jail expected to get criminals off the street

CHARLES JOHN-ON Managing Editor
Perhaps the only people who are not looking forward to the completion of the new Lake County jail are criminals. Because of current overcrowding, several classes of offenders are not sent to jail at all.

According to Larry Lesza, jail superintendent, the current jail
holds up to 128 inmates.
When the sixth floor is completed in the current jail, room will be available for an additional 96 inmates. The new jail, which is expected to be finished next July or August, will hold 270 inmates. Thus, within a year, Lake County should have almost four times as much space available as it has now.

One of the problems with the current situation is that some offenders who should be in jail cannot be housed. "We've got a cap on us," Lesza said. "We can't take weekenders and there are several classes of offenders who we are not allowed to take in at all - we can't take people for failure to appear in court unless we can prove that they have failed to appear more than once."

The lack of space has proved to be a problem for everyone. Currently, some offenders who must be housed have to be sent out of the county under contractual agreements with other jails.

Joe Semasko, police chief of the Village of Fox Lake, said it is very frustrating because, at times, they have to house prisoners who should be in the county jail.

"We have holding cells here," he said. "They aren't designed to house prisoners, but just a couple of weeks ago we had to house two people charged with armed robbery for three or four days because there was no space at the county jail."

Semasko said what is even more frustrating is that they sometimes have to hold prisoners for neighboring communities. "I get concerned about the potential for liability
when we are holding someone else's prisoners, but I don't know what the alternative is," he said.

The police chief praised the design of the new facility, noting it could easily be expanded.
"I just hope this will solve the problem and we aren't full up again in a year," he said.

Lesza noted that one problem with jails, from an administrative standpoint, is that officials are required to do a lot more than they used to.

"The new jail will have indoor and outdoor recreational facilities, we will be expanding the law library, the AA
program, Bible study, GED program and adult education classes. We will be providing a lot of services that we are not currently able to do very well," Lesza said.

He noted that if the county had the space available now, there would be no need to farm prisoners out to other counties.

"It's been a long time coming, but I think this is going to be a benefit for everyone," Semasko noted. "Right now, local departments have to spend extra money for the manpower to watch prisoners when they have to be housed locally."

Ma Bell requests customer credits, rate reductions

Illinois Bell, the Office Public Counsel and the Cook County State's Attorney have asked the

Illinois Commerce Commission to approve a plan that would give 2.8
million Illinois Bell

customers in northeastern Illinois credits
on their December bills, totaling $27 million.

The plan represents results of negotiations requested by the ICC on Oct. 28 to resolve the issue of how to give customers benefits of a lower federal tax rate.

The request also would give customers outside northeastern Illinois about $10 million in credits.

Residential customers
in northeastern Illinois
would receive a one-time $.05 credit. Business customers would receive a $10.14 credit for each business line.

SPORTS BRIEFS

NSC picks best

Antioch, Stevenson and Warren all fared well with the North Suburban Conference's all-conference team as the three teams had five players on the elite group.

Antioch's representatives on the team were led by unanimous pick David Wick, a senior tailback and defensive end. Other Sequoia on the team were end and defensive back Scott Gooch, defensive back Richard Price and center Eric Shoemaker.

Chris Holder led Stevenson's five-player contingent. The junior fullback-linebacker was a unanimous pick. Cliff King, Dave Detsch, Tom McConnell and Adam Seaman also made the team for the Patriots.

Warren quarterback Derek Shelton was named the number two offensive player of the year behind Niles North receiver Steve Sand. Also on the NSC team for the Blue Devils were wide receiver-strong safety Mike Schlicht, tackle Eric Divilbiss, tight end Dave Sjog and wide receiver-defensive back Brian Sitz.

North Chicago had four players on the all-league team. Anthony Burton, a split end and defensive back, was a unanimous pick. Tailback and linebacker Thomas Newberry, linebacker Eric Thompson and defensive end Mark Roman also were North Chicago picks.

Mundelein's Rob Porcellus, a fullback-linebacker, was another unanimous choice. Tight end and linebacker John Sidari and center-tackle Shaun Conrad were other Mustangs chosen.

Co-rec tourney

Volleyball teams from throughout Lake County will be able to participate in a co-ed tournament at the College of Lake County.

CLC is sponsoring the co-ed volleyball tournament Nov. 28. This will be an eight-team tourney with an entry fee of $50 per team. Teams are guaranteed four games.

Funds from this tournament will help CLC's softball team travel to Texas for its 1988 spring trip.

For more information, call (312) 223-3440, ext. 475.

Sweet finish

Mundelein's Nathan Sweet and Kim Dahm both finished their respective cross country seasons with a bang.

Sweet, a junior, placed 25th on the three-mile course with a 16:54. His previous best had been 15:27. "It was a super effort," Mundelein coach Art Campbell said.

Dahm, just a few hours earlier, had finished 12th in the girls race with a 12:44. At the midway point of the race, Dahm was 31st. "It was just phenomenal," Campbell said.

Set Panthers' tourney

Round Lake Senior High School has announced pairings for its annual Thanksgiving tournament.

On Nov. 24, McHenry will meet Dundee-Crown in a clash of Fox Valley Conference teams at 6 p.m. Round Lake will take on Winnetka in their season opener at 7:30 p.m.

On Nov. 27, Winnetka and McHenry meet at 6 p.m. with the Panthers and Dundee-Crown meeting in the second game.

In night three of the annual tourney, Dundee-Crown and Winnetka will play at 6 p.m. followed by McHenry and Round Lake at 7:30 p.m.

Mustangs pump iron

Mundelein Mustangs basketball players work on various machines in MHS weight room after practice last week. Mundelein assistant coach Neil McLoughlin makes sure all exercises are done properly. Throughout Lake County, focus is turning to basketball as teams practice plays, free-throws and lift weights in preparation for new season. Most teams will get their seasons started Nov. 24 at Thanksgiving tournament. For complete preview of 12 Lakeland teams and College of Lake County mens and womens squads, see next week's editions. — Photo by Steve Peterson.

Lancers put in some overtime work, win two of three games in tournament

by STEVE PETERSON

The willingness to work overtime is generally a trait most employers appreciate in employees.

Ditto for basketball coaches and their players.

Although the basketballs still have their early-season shine, College of Lake County's men's basketball team proved it was no 9 to 5 outfit in its tip-off tournament. The Lancers played three extra overtime sessions, winning a squeaker against Highland 82-80 and then losing 74-71 to Moraine Valley in the title game. In between, CLC knocked off Daley 89-76 to finish the round-robin tourney 2-1.

"I think we'll be all right," CLC coach Dr. Bruce Smith said after the Moraine Valley game.

The Lancers will be more than all right if freshmen Don Kiesgan and Bob Bell continue their strong play inside. In the opener, Kiesgan started his collegiate career with 22 points. Bell had 19 points and eight offensive rebounds. All told, CLC chalked up 44 caroms.

"The offensive rebounding won it for us," Smith said of the Highland game.

All three CLC games were a case of the inside game versus the outside game. Opponents outscored CLC from the three-point play area in all three games. For the tourney, the Lancers made eight three-pointers.

The kickoff tournament for basketball at CLC's gym provided a little something for everyone. Basketball fans sneaking a peek at their favorite sport had a chance to see a three-point play win a game, quickness, strong rebounding and a few controversial calls here and there.

In the Highland contest, Kiesgan, a Grant product, scored his first points on a conventional three-point play that trimmed an early Highland lead to 13-12. A tip-in by Don Gunther gave CLC a 15-13 lead. The rest of the first half was pretty much a standoff. Two Kiesgan hoops put the hosts on top at 25-21 but the Cougars cut the lead to 28-27 at the buzzer.

A basket by Bell and a tip-in from Gunther gave CLC its biggest lead of the game at 50-42 midway through the second half.

Highland, though, then started using the three-point shot and eventually tied it at 63-63 on a bucket by Don Burks with 4:12 left.

A layup by Gunther put CLC ahead by two with one minute left but a critical Lancer turnover gave Highland a chance. Highland ran the clock down 40 seconds until it read :10. A heave missed right, but Craig Kriens beat two Lancer defenders to the ball and scored to tie the game at the buzzer.

CLC dominated the overtime, allowing Highland just one basket in the first three minutes. Meanwhile, an offensive rebound by Bell, two Kiesgan free throws and a Kiesgan hoop gave CLC a 81-75 lead with 1:50 left.

Highland used a three-point play to get back into the contest, but the win was sealed when Joel Elfering rebounded his own missed free throw.

Elfering, a sophomore guard, had 11 points including one of CLC's two three-pointers. Antioch grad Tom Wells had the other. Gunther chipped home 12 points on six field goals.

After the victory, one stat which concerned Smith was free throws: CLC made just 8 of 18, less than 50 percent.

The Lancers looked like sure winners at halftime against Daley the next day. CLC led 49-29 at the break. Daley, though, gained the momentum in the second half. The lead was trimmed to 12 points midway through the half. Although CLC recovered, Daley fought back, too, coming to within eight points.

Daley then proceeded to foul a hot Gunther. Gunther made 11 of 13 free-throws for the game, including eight in a row that iced the win. Gunther finished with 15 points while Kiesgan had 12. Guard Mike Fiesel had 12 as well.

The CLC-Moraine Valley matchup for the tournament title was probably the most even of the six games played. The Lancers and Mauraders were tied at 27 at halftime. CLC led early in the second half, but the biggest lead the hosts could muster was a 38-33 margin after two Ed Beskow free throws.

The two went basket-for-basket for the next 10 minutes.

Moraine Valley started to pull away with about five minutes left. Two free throws by Antonne Samuels and a basket following a Lancer turnover gave Moraine Valley a 61-56 cushion. CLC recovered, getting a three-point shot from Gunther and a 10-footer from Bell to tie the game at :52.

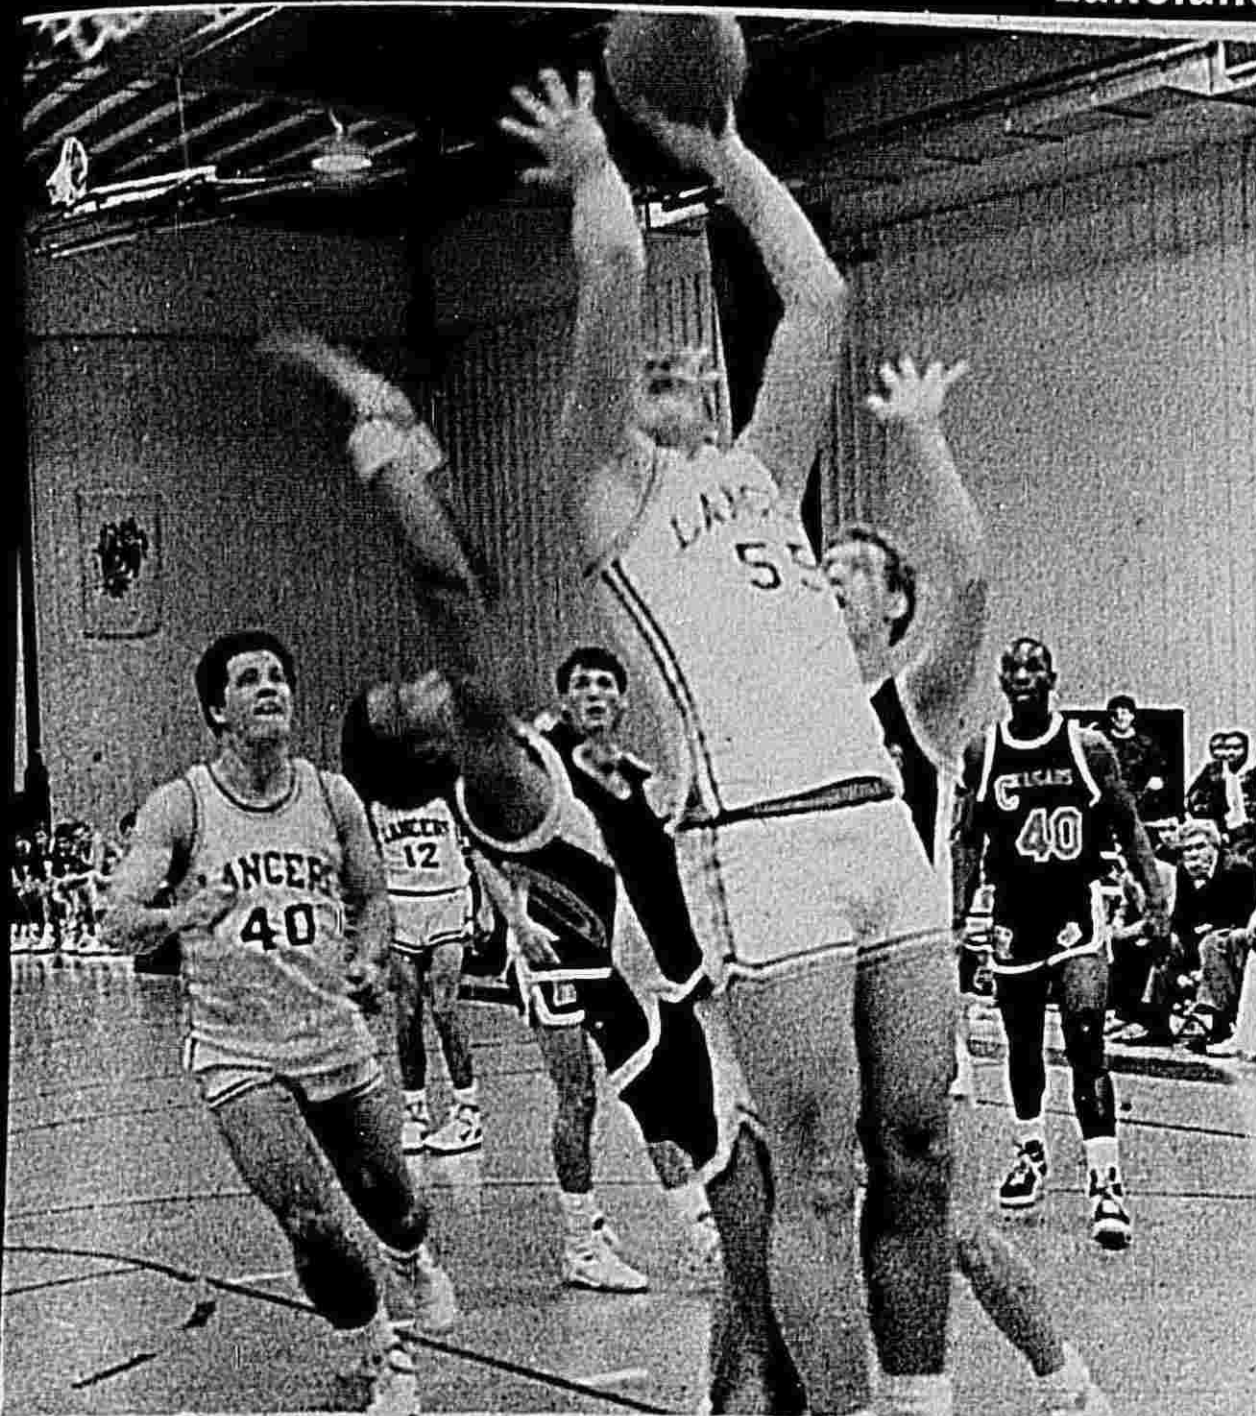

Bell, a Warren product, then apparently scored the game-winner with two seconds left. But Moraine Valley's Samuels rebounded a missed shot and a fade-away shot from five feet beat the buzzer.

Both teams could only manage one basket in the first overtime.

Lawrence Wallace hit a three-point shot for a 68-65 MV lead early in the second overtime. A tip-in by Wallace upped the lead to 70-65.

CLC did not quit. Following a

Schools can appoint IHSA representative

Sen. Jack Schaffer (R-McHenry County) says the new law allowing school boards to pick who they want to represent them on the IHSA Board will generate greater participation in the Illinois High School Athletic Assn.

"This new law is directed at the Illinois High School Assn., whose old rules required member schools to designate their principals as voting representatives. A common concern about the Illinois High School Assn. is that a relatively small number of the schools are represented by principals at the meetings," Schaffer said. "The principals of the schools have to be voting representatives, but many are just too busy to attend the IHSA meetings, so policy decisions are often left to a few people."

Senate Bill 1043, which the Governor signed last month, allows each of the school districts to appoint the superintendent, principal, assistant principal, coach or other faculty members to represent their school at the IHSA meetings. In the event the school board gives no action on this matter, the school principal would automatically be appointed to represent the school.

"This legislation gives school boards the option of keeping their principals or appointing another representative to serve in that capacity," said Schaffer. "It became obvious to me and to the other members of the Joint Senate-House Committee that a relatively small number of principals are running the IHSA Assn."

"I found that many of the principals are too busy with other school business to take the time to represent their school at these meetings and that they would be delighted to be able to designate other staff members to fill this important role," said Schaffer, who served on the IHSA's Joint Committee.

Former quarterback Douglass supports NFL union's goals

Just before the National Football League players went on strike a month ago, Bobby Douglass thought of a possibility.

Would he cross the picket lines if he was called back to resume his pro football career?

"I would have had to give it some thought," Douglass said.

Douglass did not receive that phone call from any of the 26 NFL owners. Douglass, who is now involved in his second career - real estate - discussed a myriad of issues at the Antioch Twp. Republican annual dinner last week. Most wanted to know about the strike but others asked about Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon, Bears coach Mike Ditka and whether Douglass would go on strike.

"I would have gone on strike," he said.

The former Bear quarterback, who played in the years just preceding Walter Payton and the Bears comeback, said there may be some tension between players who crossed the picket lines and those who stayed outside the football stadiums.

"There is no doubt that there will be some animosity on an individual basis. There will be a certain amount of abuse. A lot of players age up a lot of money," he said.

Douglass said of all the sports, football is one which emphasizes the team aspect.

"Football is truly a team sport. There's no individual who can stand alone. You need your teammates. If you were a Bear, you would stay out (during the strike)," the former NFL player representative said.

While other NFL teams had sometimes half their team returning before the strike was settled, no Bears crossed the picket lines.

Douglass, who once led the Bears in rushing with more than 1,000 yards, can remember the good days in his 11-year career of rushing for four touchdowns. He also remembers those bad ones.

"The worst was against Minnesota when I played with a broken wrist," he said.

Douglass, who has had business ventures in Waukegan, said he has seen the pro game change drastically.

"You had the quicker players in the late 1960s. From 1970-75, the run dominated but then they put in more pass rush changes. Today you see more linebackers rushing the passer," Douglass said.

Some other Douglassisms:

On McMahon, the ex-quarterback said: "the only way to tell whether or not he will be able to play in the future is whether or not he will be able to take the punishment."

On Ditka: "Mike understands the players better than he presents it on radio or t.v. He wants the players to be somewhat happy."

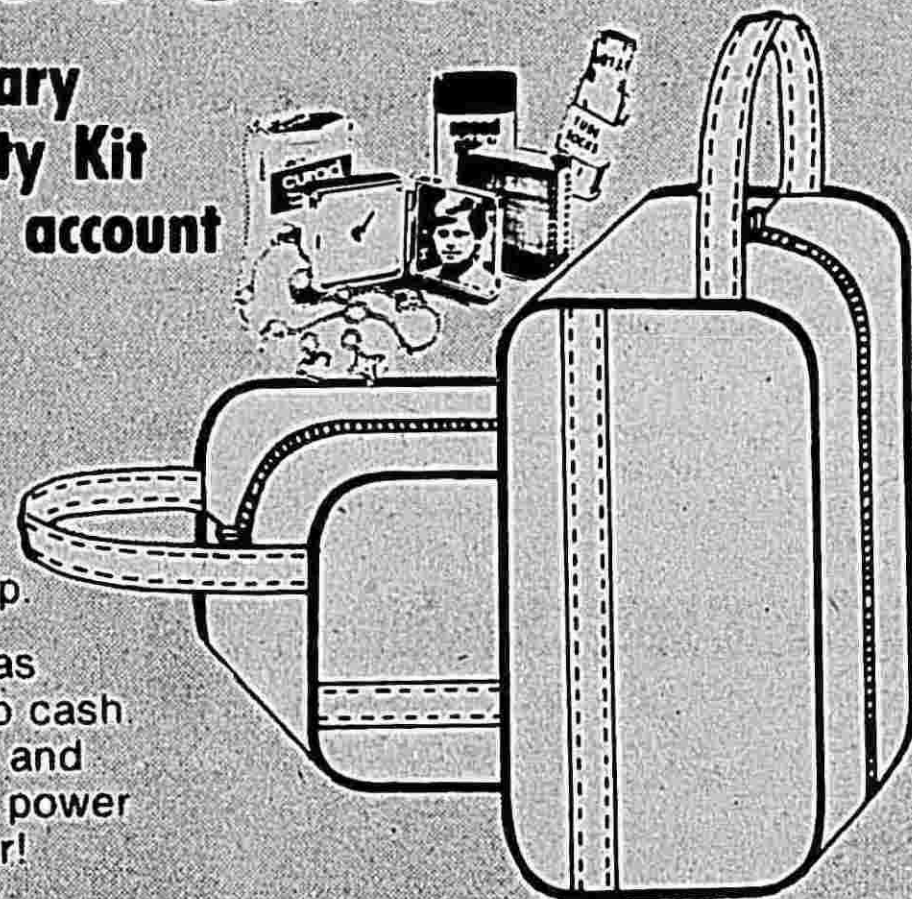

On Doug Flutie: "I had an advantage being taller (6-5, 235). He is at a disadvantage with his size at quarterback."

Northwest Suburban Conf. lists fall sports all-academic teams

Northwest Suburban Conference athletes are not only proving themselves in the fields, but in the classroom as well.

According to Round Lake High School Athletic Director Ken Ricci, NWSC had a record number of student athletes make the all-academic teams. That is even disregarding the addition of two new league sports—soccer and cheerleading—this year.

All told, some 265 student athletes were listed. To be eligible, a student must or will be receiving a varsity letter. Students also must be enrolled in a minimum of two semesters, three trimesters or four quarters. Freshmen are not eligible for all-academic teams.

Volleyball had the most students with grade point averages at 4.0 or 5.0 as 13 spikers made that category. Boys cross country had 12, and football 10.

Area players making all-academic:

Turkey tourneys on horizon

Although the official start of high school basketball season may be a few weeks off, it is not too early for fans to start marking their calendars for Thanksgiving tournaments.

Mundelein will be hosting both a boys and girls tournament for the second straight year Nov. 27 and 28.

Johnsburg will host a boys tournament Nov. 24, 25 and 27.

Stevenson will be at Glenbrook South while Grant is at Harvard and Warren is at St. Charles.

North Chicago will have the farthest to travel, as the Warhawks are at Quincy.

"We worked years for our money, now we're making our money work for us."

"We sold our old home and bought our beautiful new manor home on a tax-free exchange. Then we invested the balance — also tax-free. It was the smartest move we ever made, especially since 1987's tax reform left mortgage interest as the last major tax deduction.

But smartest of all is our big new 3 bedroom home with vaulted ceiling, fully applianced kitchen, laundry room, patio, and huge master suite. Plus, maintenance-free living gives us plenty of time to enjoy the swimming pool, clubhouse, and friendly peacefulness of this established community."

timeout, Elfering hit a three-point shot to trim the lead to 70-68. After a Moraine Valley hoop, Elfering did it again, this time making it 72-71 with 16 seconds left.

The Lancers' swarming defense forced a 10-second violation. CLC had a chance to win, but a turnover proved fatal. Moraine's Rich Vegter made both of his free throws and a last-second desperation shot was long.

Bell had 18 points to lead the Lancers while Gunther had 17. Kiesgan was held to 11.

Experienced Mundelein girls hoopsters set for new season

For the Mundelein Mustangs' girls basketball team, last year's .500 North Suburban Conference record and 12-14 overall mark could be just a steppingstone.

The Mustangs have seven letterwinners returning from last year's team and coach Perry Wilhelm and the rest of the team are hoping that returning experience will translate into NSC wins.

"I'd like to think we're going to be one of the four teams at the top of the conference," Wilhelm said.

The traditional powerhouse-Libertyville figures to be back as the team to beat but Wilhelm also tags Warren and Fenton as possible challengers.

Wilhelm is also expecting the Mustangs to have an ingredient which may have been absent in previous years.

"We should have more depth than we have had in the past," the coach said.

The Mustangs are led by all-NSC returnees Rachael Lackie and Susan Musselwhite. Lackie, a senior, averaged 11 points per game and 9.4 rebounds. Musselwhite averaged 12 points per contest and 11.3 rebounds.

Forwards Chris Churchill and Kathy Orr also return. Guard Holly Smith, who saw playing time last year as a sophomore, and senior guard Jenny Kempfert round out the experienced players.

In terms of newcomers, the Mustangs are blessed with speed to run an up-tempo offense. Ashley Struggles, a sophomore, will see if the speed which carried her to the softball team's lead in stolen bases will translate into fast-break hoops.

Juniors Kim Dahm, Jennifer Basham, Julie Harlan, and Dawn Anderson will be vying for playing time with senior Denise Hartmann.

Offensively, Mundelein's attack may be dictated on what the defensive set-up is, Wilhelm said.

Defense is another area where the Mustangs' speed may be utilized. "We'd like to incorporate our speed into the defense," Wilhelm said.

The Mustangs, after a home NSC game against Zion-Benton Nov. 21, will host their own Thanksgiving tournament Nov. 24, 27 and 28. In addition to the Mustangs, Warren, Carmel and Grant are also entered. Warren won the tourney last year.

Bulldogs to face busy schedules

Now that pre-season practices are over, Grant High School's winter sports teams are starting their seasons in full gear.

Coach Tom Maple's varsity basketball team opens its season at Harvard's tournament Nov. 24-28. The Bulldogs then are at Marengo Dec. 4 to start Northwest Suburban Conference play.

In wrestling, coach Don Rowden's squad hosts Barrington Nov. 24 at 6 p.m. before competing in the Conant tournament.

Tipping while traveling never-ending concern

by JIM WARKEN
President, North Star Travel

The most common question regarding the custom of tipping for services on a cruise ship is, who and how much should be tipped?

There's no problem in getting help with this one. Most cruise lines provide suggestions regarding tipping. (I personally resent being told by a service establishment what to tip their employees, but here it is.) Cabin stewards generally are tipped $2.50 per day, and waiters get the same. The busboy would get $1.25 per day. The aforementioned are given the last day of the cruise.

Deck stewards, bar waiters and bellboys are usually given 15 percent at the time of service.

Let's get back to land and the world of hotels. A concierge (the guy who gets the taxi, theatre tickets, etc.) would get $1 per day depending on services rendered. Baggage porters should get 50 cents per bag, but not less than $1.

Maids should get anywhere between 50 cents and $1 per day, depending how much of a mess your room was after the party. The person who gives you the towel in the restroom expects 25 cents.

If taking a tour, the guide will expect something in his hand when he offers to shake yours while the bus is unloading. Fifty cents to $1 will make him happy. At the end of a tour, the bus driver is usually given 50 cents a day.

A tour that boasts "all tips included" can really save you some cash!

Traveling abroad changes the rules slightly. For instance, in China and even some places in the South Pacific, tipping may actually offend people. That's changing, though. (Seems these folks are beginning to enjoy being offended!)

In most countries in Europe, the tip is added to the bill in restaurants and hotels. It's called a service charge. In these cases, it is customary to tip only to the next guilder, mark, etc. (this is never more than 70 or 80 cents). In France and Italy, you may find as much as 30 percent added to your bill for service charges. In Spain, on the other hand, as little as five percent may be added, with nothing more expected.

When traveling abroad, always look at your bills to see if a tip has been added. If in doubt, ask.
